Germans Cry "Sign Treaty and End Agony"--British Fleet Ready for Action

HUNS RESIGNED TO INEVITABLE

Growing Sentiment in Berlin Toward Accepting Terms Laid Down by Allies

"Rather the End With Terror, Than Terror Without End," Says Merchant

(By the Associated Press)
German feeling toward the peace treaty appears to be taking a more favorable trend. Although the peace delegation headed by Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau is represented as decidedly opposed to acceptance of the revised allied terms, the latest despatches from Weimar, where the German cabinet and national assembly are considering the treaty, reflect a different viewpoint.

In Favor of Signing
The majority socialists, the present political force in the German republic are declared in these advices to be

LOWELL ELKS SCAMPER FOR TYNGSBORO

There was scampering gallop around the lodge stronghold of the Lowell Elks in Middle street this noon and there was a nervous patter of Elk feet as the "Bills" of Lodge 87 awaited the signal which was to send them on their annual gambol to the forested wilds of the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro.

Several hundred members of Lowell lodge were on hand to take part in the 1919 outdoor good time and from 11:30 right up to 1 o'clock automobiles were whizzing away from the club building. Despite his name, "Bill" Day State was not present to assist in the festivities and in his absence other members of the lodge saw to it that there were plenty of machines available for transportation. Samuel Scott was in charge of transportation, and once more he "went big" with his brother disporters for the efficient manner in which he carried out his part of the day's contract.

The various cars formed a series of parades from Middle street to Tyngsboro, and many of them were adorned with Stars and Stripes, true to Elksdom's patriotic traditions. Some of the cars didn't report to the Elk headquarters, but picked up their passengers from various places down town and whizzed away, eager to arrive on the scene of activity.

Upon the arrival at Martin Luther grounds a buffet luncheon, prepared by Calver M. A. Lydon, was first given enthusiastic consideration, and then followed a happy afternoon unmarred by formality. Commissioner "Jimmy" Donnelly was on hand to see that Harry Lauder's good work was kept fresh in the memories of the picnicers, and Ray Lynch was right on the job looking after the sporting end of the affair. Baseball, track and other Walter Camp stunts kept the members busy. A happy, informal affair it was and full of the Elk spirit of fun and cheer over a minute. Edward Turnbull was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

President and Party See Devastation Visited Upon Country by Germans

Deeply Affected by Scenes of Terrible Destruction in Battle Cities

BRUSSELS, Wednesday, June 18.—(By the Associated Press).—President and Mrs. Wilson with King Albert and Queen Elizabeth as their guides, today saw the devastation visited upon Belgium by the Germans. The first part of their visit deeply affected not only Mr. Wilson but those accompanying him. The second phase was of an entirely different character. In the forenoon almost no residents were encountered. In the afternoon the appearance of the president at Ypres, Ostend, Zeebrugge and finally Brussels was made the occasion of demonstrations that might have been accorded a conquering hero. With the president and Mrs. Wilson were Miss Margaret, Wilson, B. M. Baruch, Nor-

The committee on municipal finance of the state legislature will give a hearing on the petition of the local high school building commission, school committee and municipal council to be allowed to borrow beyond the debt limit for the construction of Lowell's new high school, next Monday morning at 10:30, it was announced at the state house today.

FAKIRS BUY LOTS FOR 4th FUN FEST

The annual auction of lots on the South common to be used for amusement and vending purposes on July 4th was held in the council chamber at city hall this morning under the auspices of the park department. Sixty lots in all were auctioned off, and brought prices ranging from $10 to $25 each. The lots are all of the same size, having a 10-foot front.

NATURALIZATION COURT
Between 30 and 40 men filed their applications with Clerk Dillingham of the superior court for first naturalization papers at the court house in Gorman street this morning. Mr. Dillingham was in this city this afternoon and between the hours of 2 and 4 he gave out second papers to between 15 and 20 applicants. Today's was the last naturalization session to be held in this city for some time.

COUPLE MARRIED FOR SECOND TIME

Mr. Joseph A. Frechette of this city and Mrs. Philomena (Brisson) Frechette of Lawrence were married yesterday in the down-river city and shortly after the ceremony the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip to Sherbrooke, Que., this being their second honeymoon. The couple were married in this city 27 years ago and later divorced.

Mr. Frechette is 55 years of age, while his bride for the second time is nearing her 60th anniversary of birth. The couple were married for the first time in this city 27 years ago, the bridegroom at that time being 18 years of age, while his better half was 22. They lived together for 16 years and then separated. In 1904 divorce proceedings were instituted and a decree nisi was granted. At that time Mrs. Frechette removed to Lawrence, where she has been making her home ever since. It seems that a short time ago the couple met at a social gathering and the old love was revived with the result that arrangements were made for the matrimonial ceremony, which took place yesterday.

Mr. Frechette is a second hand in one of the weaving departments of the Tremont & Suffolk mills. He worked up to Tuesday night at which time he informed some of his help that he was going on a business trip to Sherbrooke, Que. It is expected that they will make their home in this city.

Easiest Way to Remove Ugly Hairy Growths

(Beauty Culture)
Here is a method for removing hair or fuzz that is unfailing and is quite inexpensive: Mix a thick paste with some powdered acetone and water and spread on hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes, rub it off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. No harm or inconvenience results from this treatment, but be careful to get genuine acetone.—Adv.

FAVORS A NEW RIVER SURVEY

Merrimack River Congressmen To Appeal to U. S. Engineering Head

Local Committee Believes Report of Col. Shunk Most Unfair

As the result of action at a board of trade committee meeting on the Merrimack river waterway project, held this morning at the board of trade rooms, the three congressmen from the Merrimack river section of Massachusetts, Messrs. Rogers, Phelan and Lusk, will try to hold conference with Gen. Black, U.S.A., head of the engineers of the war department, and will request him to appoint one of the most skilled engineers in the war department to re-survey the river and submit a report on the cost and advisability of making a ship way of the canal.

This action will of course show the valley's complete repudiation and disapproval of the adverse report turned in to the war department some weeks ago by Col. Shunk of Boston, head of the New England division of the war department's engineering bureau, in which Col. Shunk not only submitted a technical report showing the work that would be involved and the probable cost of engineering and for labor and materials, but went to the extreme of advising the U. S. government not to become financially interested in the project on account of the very high cost of accomplishing the work. Included in his recommendation also was the expression of his belief that even if the river was deepened for ships Lowell and Lawrence mills would not utilize the waterway to ship their products. He further suggested that a big power plant be erected at Beverly or some point nearby to supply power for the Merrimack valley industries.

Much criticism has been extended Col. Shunk in Lowell, Lawrence and other places because of what he advised, this morning Congressmen Rogers, clarified the air in regard to this by saying that he had learned it was war department precedent that when an army engineer like Col. Shunk submitted a report he was previously invited to submit comments and recommendations so that when he saw fit to technically try to "tie the can" on the Merrimack river project, he was also privileged to add the belief, if he wished, that Lowell and Lawrence mills wouldn't use the water route for their shipments and to tell of his dream about the central power plant at Beverly.

Those attending the meeting this morning were the following: President John O'Donoghue, Secretary John O'Rourke, Rep. Victor Jewett, Sen. Coburn of Dracut, Andrew Sutherland and Justin E. Varney of Lawrence, John H. Murphy, George Bowers, John Hogan, Mayor Thompson and John McMenamin. It was brought out at the meeting that the promoters of the Merrimack river project can appeal from the Shunk report before the board of army engineers. This might be done July 8 or July 15 or this action might be postponed to a later date. The first action will be the request and representation made to Gen. Black that he designate another army engineer to go over what has already been done under Col. Shunk's supervision.

In connection with this, if Gen. Black invited the congressmen to suggest the name of some army officer in whom they had confidence, it was said at this morning's meeting that the name of Col. George Pillsbury, a former resident and native of Lowell, might be presented for Gen. Black's consideration. Col. George Pillsbury is said to be an engineer of the highest reputation in the army and was formerly an instructor and professor of engineering at West Point.

Considerable feeling was manifested on the part of the men who were present this morning all of whom were plain boosters for the project, and who did not hesitate to say that this great improvement so long desired and sought for, had received a setback from the Shunk report and it was bluntly said that people in the Merrimack valley probably had a just grievance against the attitude of the state commission on harbors and waterways which has for a long time been openly and actively hostile to this valley improvement. Other informal discussion brought out the expression of belief on the part of some of the Lowell men present that men connected with Lowell mills have not aided the project for while the mill agents here have as a majority registered their approval of the project, it was said that a majority of the treasurers of Lowell mill corporations, non-residents and living and doing business in Boston, had made it their business to actively exercise efficient propaganda seeking to belittle and discourage the idea.

Reported That President Mahon Will Take Charter Away From Local Union

Should Strikers Lose Charter, They Would Also forfeit Insurance and Strike Benefits—Lowell Now Has Longest Tie-Up in State's History—Strike Spreading to Other Sections

According to a statement said to have been made last night at Atlantic City by William D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, John H. Reardon, general executive board member, who addressed the striking Lowell car men Tuesday night and ordered them back to work again, has been ordered in this city to take away the charter of the local union. It is understood also that Mr. Reardon has been authorized to inform all other local unions in the Bay State system that charters will be revoked immediately in case of broken agreements.

When questioned this forenoon regarding this serious development, Thomas J. Powers, president of Lowell Local 230, declined to give out a statement. The Lowell carmen met in regular session at 10 o'clock, but no report was forthcoming.

Belief that the strike is assuming grave proportions and is threatening to spread over the entire system to the point of causing a general tie-up and absolute abandonment of Bay State Street Railway traffic was further strengthened this morning when the conductors and motormen of Lawrence voted to strike in sympathy with the Lowell men, the walk-out to take effect on the completion of the last trips tonight. No Bay State cars now are being operated in Lowell or Woburn and about 300 more strikers will be added to the list when service stops in Lawrence. The meeting in Lawrence last night, at which delegates from 16 local unions were present, forecasted the strike vote in the down-river city today and also gave further impetus to the strong under-current of feeling that a general strike, tying up the entire system, would be in effect before the end of the week.

The revoking of a local charter is a serious development from the standpoint of the carmen, for it means the loss of death and insurance benefits which have a maximum of $500 and men old in the service would feel the loss keenly. Charter annulment also means the severing of all connections with the international body and practically makes a local organization an outlaw group.

This is the fourth day of the strike locally and people are continuing to get about as best they can. A system of jitney transportation is attempting to accommodate the crowds and practically every section of the city is being partially covered. The Ray State officials had nothing to give out this morning, saying the situation remained unchanged. Fred Cummings, publicity man for the company, was in Lowell last night until 11 o'clock, when he went to Lawrence. He is believed to be in Boston today.

Business has suffered appreciably for the past four days as only comparatively few people are making an attempt to get downtown. Mills, shops, and stores are looking after the transportation of their help, several factories having pressed trucks and barges into commission to carry their employees to and from work.

As far as can be learned the local situation constitutes the longest strike, history of the commonwealth. The Boston Elevated strike was of longer duration than the length of the local tie-up to date, but during the former some cars were operated. Lawrence was without car service a short while ago for two days, but service was resumed when the question at issue was given over to the board of arbitration. For absolute stagnation the Lowell strike seems to be without precedent.

Now the reason we did not submit the Rooke register on open cars to arbitration was because when we signed an agreement with the Bay State to submit certain things to arbitration, the matter of the Rooke register on open cars was not mentioned, or alluded to in any way, shape or form. We claim the agreement and the Rooke register is something the agreement we signed did not have any concern about. It might be said that it was just as much up to the company to not use its open cars or to use them with the clock register and submit the matter to arbitration, as it was for the carmen to have done this.

Reading Car Barn Men
With 100 carmen on sympathetic strike at Woburn, Lowell carmen wondered what the Reading car barn men would do. Three weeks ago Reading men struck on use of Rooke registers for one day, and then went back to work, having decided to let the matter go to arbitration. It had been proposed to use the Rooke register on open cars down that way where there is much open car pleasure riding in summer between Reading, Wakefield and Melrose, to Lynn beach. In the face of Reading men having done this, it was felt to be uncertain as to whether they would feel they could turn their backs on arbitration proceedings and leave their cars to register their sympathy with Lowell carmen.

"I am in hopes this trouble here can be kept in the status of being a localized issue. Should the strike not spread extensively this would obtain. I am frank in saying I shall not make personal appeal to Gov. Coolidge to take executive action in our carmen's strike here until I am convinced it is the last remedy remaining. It will be my last resort."

Asked to describe his experience with the state board of arbitration so far, the mayor said:
"It is incorrect to say I requested the state arbitration board to help us out here in Lowell. I did not of my own volition request it to take action, but under the state law I have to notify the state board of arbitration that a strike exists."

"I did this formally and next had a telephone call from the office of the board in Boston. The person on the other end of the line asked me some of the most foolish questions I can imagine. He asked me, for instance, who operated the trolley lines up here and when I told him the Eastern Massachusetts Railway company, he asked me what company that was. Next he said they had several important matters to attend to in Boston and he didn't know when they would get around to send a representative to Lowell."

"Upon this I told him that perhaps the board needn't give me troubles up here any very great concern, all that was the matter with us here in Lowell was that our entire street car service was suspended and we had a labor trouble that bid fair to spread rapidly and many thousands of our working people had to walk long distances to work, as of course do many other citizens, but that apart from this we were probably feeling real fit. This is the present situation in regard to the state arbitration board."

Asked if he had attended the carmen's meeting this morning he said he had not and that he made it a practice not to attend the meetings only when invited by the carmen themselves although to be considered at their service whenever needed.

Automobiles Used BY MAIL CARRIERS

The mail service of Lowell is still maintaining its efficiency in spite of the street car tie-up. Postmaster Meehan told The Sun today, and all mail is being delivered on schedule time. This has been made possible by the use of automobiles which have been chartered to take the carriers to and from their routes, and also by the willingness of the men themselves to use their own machines in place of the street cars that used to be.

DO NOT TAKE KINDLY TO ARBITRATION

Lowell people have made extensive criticism to the effect that the carmen should have operated the open cars Monday, circus day, and used the Rooke register, doing it perhaps under recorded protest and announcing they should insist that the matter be arbitrated. In answer to this one influential member of the carmen's union today said:

"It is not to be wondered at if our members are not howling supporters of the principle of arbitration as it has concerned us here in Lowell. We had a wage increase we allowed to be arbitrated and after it was in process of being before the arbitration board nine months and our union subjected to a great amount of expense, the award amounted to only a half-cent per hour."

"Now the reason we did not submit the Rooke register on open cars to arbitration was because when we signed an agreement with the Bay State to submit certain things to arbitration, the matter of the Rooke register on open cars was not mentioned, or alluded to in any way, shape or form. We claim the agreement and the Rooke register is something the agreement we signed did not have any concern about. It might be said that it was just as much up to the company to not use its open cars or to use them with the clock register and submit the matter to arbitration, as it was for the carmen to have done this."

With 100 carmen on sympathetic strike at Woburn, Lowell carmen wondered what the Reading car barn men would do. Three weeks ago Reading men struck on use of Rooke registers for one day, and then went back to work, having decided to let the matter go to arbitration. It had been proposed to use the Rooke register on open cars down that way where there is much open car pleasure riding in summer between Reading, Wakefield and Melrose, to Lynn beach. In the face of Reading men having done this, it was felt to be uncertain as to whether they would feel they could turn their backs on arbitration proceedings and leave their cars to register their sympathy with Lowell carmen.

NURSES NEED AUTOS

Suspension of Cars Seriously Hampers Lowell Guild Work—Public Should Aid

The board of trade has had its attention called to the fact that one of the serious hardships wrought by the present street railway strike is the inconvenience caused district nurses of the city in going to and from their cases.

The district nurses, who are employed by the Lowell Guild, very often have to travel to suburban districts in their daily work and the lack of electric car accommodations adds greatly to their labors. The board of trade makes an appeal to auto owners to stop their machines when they see a woman in the nurse's blue uniform and ask if they can be of assistance. Very often the presence of a nurse will save a life. It is said that even after certain nurses have asked autoists for rides, they didn't receive them, but public spirited auto owners undoubtedly will be glad to lend their aid in this manner, once their attention is called to the need.

PERSHING THANKS PARIS

Americans Allowed To Bring Articles in French Capital
Free of City Duties

PARIS, Wednesday, June 18.—General John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American Expeditionary Forces, has written a letter to M. Goyon, president of the municipal council of Paris, expressing his thanks and those of the American army for marks of sympathy shown by the city, especially in permitting the American army and welfare organizations connected with it to bring articles and provisions into the capital free of city duties.

"I desire to express my conviction," Gen. Pershing wrote, "that these expressions of good will will not be lost, but will, in fact, contribute still further to the affection held for Paris by Americans who have sojourned there. They have been numerous in the past, and it is my belief that their number will be greater in the future."

FREES GIRLS FROM JAIL

Judge Finds Them Innocent of Flirting—Advises Them To Sue Detective

NEW YORK, June 18.—Two young women who had spent four days in jail as a result of having talked to two army lieutenants on the street, were exonerated by Judge Otis S. Rosalsky in general sessions, who urged them to bring suits for damages against the detective upon whose testimony they were convicted. A detective accused the girls of having "flirted" with the lieutenants.

"The magistrate who convicted these girls should be rebuked," Judge Rosalsky said, after scathingly denouncing the detective.

The two young women, both of whom are engaged to be married and hold responsible positions before they were arrested, are Miss Sally Cobin, employed as a stenographer and typist in the quartermaster department of the army and living at 414 Henry street, and Miss Lillian Kahn of Brooklyn. Miss Kahn, it was said in court, had lost a position as saleswoman in a dress goods concern, paying her $42 a week as the result of her experience.

For the four days during which they were in jail, the court proceedings disclosed, the two young women were afraid to communicate with their friends or relatives because by doing so they would disclose their predicament. They were afraid the stigma of the charge against them would prove more difficult to endure than the hardship imposed by their arrest.

Their employers, relatives and friends made inquiries for them, but no explanation was obtained of their disappearance until they had been released and decided to tell their stories.

Their testimony, as submitted in the proceedings in court, was that the two young women tried to obtain admittance to the Metropolitan Opera House on the night of March 4 last, when President Wilson made his speech on the League of Nations in anticipation of his departure for Europe on the following day.

Finding that admittance to the Opera House was by ticket only, the two girls walked up Broadway to Forty-second street. They intended to spend a little time looking into the shop windows and then go home.

At Forty-second street, Judge Rosalsky was told, two army lieutenants spoke to the girls. One of them, Miss Cobin said she knew, having met him at the quartermaster's department. The two officers asked permission to take the girls home, and this being declined, went away.

As the lieutenants walked off Detective John F. Gunson, who had been watching, came up and placed the two girls under arrest.

"You tried to pick those fellows up," the detective told the girls and, despite their tearful and indignant protests, took them to a station. They were afterwards arraigned in the women's night court before Magistrate Francis X. Mancuso, who adjudged them guilty of the general charge of disorderly conduct. He then remanded them to the Jefferson Market court pending sentence.

Evidence was presented to the court which proved that there was absolutely no ground for holding the girls on the charge made by the detective.

Magistrate Mancuso thereupon discharged the girls from custody. It was brought out.

Afterwards relatives of the two girls brought the case to the attention of Asst. Dist. Atty. Markewich, who made an investigation. Mr. Markewich reported to Dist. Atty. Swann, who ordered that the case be reviewed by Judge Rosalsky.

"The action of the police officer in this case can't be too strongly condemned," said Judge Rosalsky in dismissing the two girls. "There was not a scintilla of evidence to warrant the arrest and the conviction was wholly unwarranted by the facts."

"You young women, both respectable and enjoying excellent reputation, and both, as it develops, chaste as well as respectable, have suffered through the action of this police officer."

"I want you to bring a civil suit for damages against this detective, and you will collect damages."

Then turning to Detective Gunson, Judge Rosalsky said:

"Your own sister and my own sister and every woman in the city would be in a very precarious position if men like you on the police force were allowed to go on without hindrance."

"Your action cannot be too strongly condemned, and the magistrate who convicted these girls should be rebuked."

DEATHS

CARROLL—Mrs. Bridget R. Carroll, mother of Justice James B. Carroll, of the supreme judicial court, died yesterday at the home of her son, 234 Pearl street, Springfield, Mass., aged 98 years. Mrs. Carroll was born in Ireland, but came to this country a young woman and lived in Lowell for many years. She moved to Springfield, however, when the future Justice was very young. She is survived only by Justice Carroll.

Goss—Joseph Herbert Goss, formerly of Lowell, died yesterday at his home in Jersey City, N. J. He leaves besides his wife, two sons, Elton Earle and Kenneth Clyde, all of Jersey City; his uncle, Charles F. Goss of Dunstable, and two cousins, Charles E. Goss of Dunstable and Mrs. Walter Powers of Lowell.

HASKELL—Fred U. Haskell died last night at his home, 417 Bridge street, aged 69 years, 6 months and 9 days. He had been in the employ of O. P. Prentiss a number of years and was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends. He leaves his wife, Achsah H. Haskell.

FORD—Mrs. Della A. Ford, aged 60 years, died last night at her home, 255 Worthen street. She is survived by two brothers, Joseph of this city and John of Milford, N. H.; three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Polla of this city, a sister in England and a sister in Ireland. The body was removed to the

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.

In 1835 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form.

In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product HORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

LODGE SPEAKS AT HARVARD

Lessons in Germany's Military Aggressive and Russia's Red Rule Emphasized

Says Destruction of Germany's War Power Best Guarantee of World Peace

CAMBRIDGE, June 19.—Lessons for America in Germany's military aggression following years of effort toward world peace and in Russia's Bolshevik rule were emphasized in an address today by United States Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, at the commencement exercises of Harvard university.

Destruction of Germany's war power, Senator Lodge declared, now is the best guarantee of world peace. Military wrought by Bolshevism in Russia, he asserted, proves that reforms must come slowly, by evolution, and that present conditions may be endangered "by vainly striving for a glittering impossibility."

No Direct Reference to League

No direct reference was made by Mr. Lodge to the peace treaty or the League of Nations, but in discussing peace efforts and Germany's course, he said:

"At the close of the last century there was a general belief that serious wars would not come again. Some doubted, and for their skepticism were called 'fingers,' 'war lovers' and 'pessimists.' But almost everyone felt sure that it was war which would break upon us, horrors would be reduced to the lowest point and that by the conventions of Geneva and The Hague, the sufferings and cruelties of past wars would be largely eliminated.

Wholesale Atrocities

"Suddenly the great war came. Germany, esteemed by all a highly civilized nation, entered deliberately upon a course of savage cruelty worse than any ever imagined because it was carefully organized. The world had known barbarism before but never had anything fallen upon men comparable to the scientific wholesale atrocities carried on by Germany by which not merely individuals but entire communities were subjected to the most hideous sufferings and the most utter ruin which highly trained minds entirely destitute of humanity could devise.

Treaties Caught in Flame of War

"As for treaties and laws, they went in the fierce flame of war as quickly as the dry leaves of autumn when a spark falls among them.

"The beautiful scheme of making mankind suddenly virtuous by a statute or a written convention, was once more exhibited in all its weakness.

"It is a melancholy reflection that the best assurance of the future peace of the world lies in the destruction of the German war power, which is worth all it cost.

"Once again comes the harsh lesson that all the advances of men in morals and in altruism, in charity and gentler manners and purer laws, all that really remain with us, came slowly, never in a moment."

Experience of the past, Senator Lodge declared, must be a guide to future action.

Have Vision and Dream Dreams

"I fervently hope," he said, "that you will have visions and dream dreams, but do not forget that having visions is one thing while being a visionary, especially a visionary whose visions and ideals are stage properties, is quite another.

"What troubles me most about the books and articles and speeches by our most advanced thinkers setting forth new panaceas and systems for all the evils, is that they are generally so very

Infinite Attention to Detail

Is one of the recipes for success. That is The Colonial Quality Idea. The woman who buys the small needfuls of every day with the same care she devotes to a hat is the truly efficient homemaker. Colonial Quality Needfuls have different and distinctive names but each is a true Colonial Quality—not super exclusive or highly expensive, but the most universally satisfactory in wear and style—each one the best at its price.

old—a fact apparently disregarded by their authors, who very properly despise a pest which only rises up to be troublesome."

Americans First, Last and Always

"Russian Bolshevism," Mr. Lodge said in conclusion, "presents a warning to America in its awful results of a scheme which its authors pretended and their dupes believed would make all men happy in a moment."

"In letters of fire," said Mr. Lodge, "this Russian scene says to us 'This way lies ruin.'"

"Does the United States tell us, trumpet-tongued, that the country for which this younger generation has died has still the best hope for mankind and that it must be preserved as their fathers preserved and saved it in the days that are gone? Be Americans first, Americans last and Americans always. From that firm foundation you can march on. Abandon it and chaos will come as when the civilization of Rome crashed down in irremediable ruin."

Tells Dyspeptics What To Eat

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things. Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acids and prevent the formation of gas or sourness by the use of a little Disurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach, antacid than Disurated Magnesia, which you can get from any drug store, and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five-grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the most digestible naturally and healthfully without need of peppermint pills or artificial digestants.

SUFFRAGISTS WIN THE FIRST SKIRMISH

BOSTON, June 19.—The suffragists yesterday won the first skirmish in the coming fight over the question of ratification by Massachusetts of the amendment to the federal constitution to extend the privileges of the ballot to women. The legislative committee on federal relations by a vote of 9 to 1, reported in favor of ratification.

Later in the day Senator Weston of Newton gave notice that he will today introduce as a substitute for the committee report a resolution to refer the question of ratification to the men and women of the state by ballot at the next state election.

Nichols Only Dissenter

Senator Nichols of Boston cast the only dissenting vote in the committee. The 11th member of the committee, Representative Lane of Boston, was present, but would not vote.

The vote proved a surprise at the state house, as it has been said the committee members were about equally divided for and against ratification.

The report was later filed in the house in charge of Representative Achin of Lowell, house chairman of the committee.

Anti-suffragists are organizing to fight for some sort of a referendum to the voters, not only to obtain delay, but in hope that a vote adverse to suffrage would have an effect advantageous to them on legislatures of other states.

Governor Would Veto It

There are reports current, however, based on trustworthy authority, that Gov. Coolidge, who is in favor of immediate ratification, would veto any referendum bill, and word to that effect reached the committee at its executive session yesterday and apparently had much to do with the large majority for ratification.

Henry F. Long, private secretary to the governor, later denied the governor's intention.

A Wonderful Medicine for Women.

THOUSANDS of women owe their beauty of face and form—their strength and vitality—their freedom from lifelong illhealth—to RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.

THOUSANDS of others are winning back their health and strength by taking RED PILLS.

WHY? Because RED PILLS are an infallible remedy for Anaemia and Poor Blood.

ANAEMIA is responsible for most of the Headaches, Backaches, Paleness, Thinness, Weakness, Nervousness, Indigestion and Sleeplessness with which so many women suffer.

RED PILLS conquer Anaemia; and give you the pure, rich blood needed to nourish mind and body.

MRS. NAPOLEON LARIVEE, 503 East Street, Holyoke, Mass., has been suffering for quite a few years from the change of life, and was indeed a very miserable woman before she started to take RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. Her life was becoming unendurable, for she was constantly troubled with poor digestion, palpitation of the heart, headaches and backaches, besides being in an excessive state of general weakness. She took RED PILLS, she was persevering, and took them faithfully for over a year, and was rewarded by recovering her good health and being relieved of the different symptoms which are usually the lot of women who do not take proper care of themselves while going through the change of life, which is such a difficult period in the life of a woman.

CAUTION—The formula of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women was first discovered in Paris, in the year of 1870, by a famous French doctor, and they have been widely used ever since.

To avoid imitations or substitutions, insist on the signature "Cie Chimique Franco-Americaine". In boxes only, 50 cents, or six boxes for $2.50.

OPEN PERSHING STADIUM AT PARIS SUNDAY

PARIS, Wednesday, June 18.—The regiment of picked men from the American Third Army which was organized to act as General Pershing's body guard on his projected visits to London and Brussels has arrived here from Coblenz and will vie with picked French units at the opening of the Pershing stadium on Sunday. The regiment is composed of 3000 men chosen from all the divisions of the Third Army.

The list of the French entries for the inter-allied games was issued today. It is headed by Georges Carpentier of the French aviation corps, heavyweight champion boxer of Europe. France will be represented in every event on the program with the exception of cricket, Vermeulen, holder of the world's record for the 10 mile run, leads the track men.

The Italian sports delegation has announced that the king of Italy will offer a prize in the form of a bronze statue while the Italian minister of war will offer another prize.

EXPLAINS OUTBREAK OF FRENCH SAILORS

BREST, Wednesday, June 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The demonstration of French sailors here last night and today followed the landing of sailors from the Black sea fleet who were involved in the revolt at Odessa. The men were brought to this port on the French warship Justice, and after being landed, were lodged in the naval prison at Fort Pontandor.

At about 8 o'clock last night 200 sailors broke down the gates of barracks No. 2, paraded up Rue Siam, down Rue Dupont and attempted to rush the naval prison to release their imprisoned comrades. Their attempt failed.

Reinforcements for the French infantry on patrol here have arrived and the number of gendarmes has been doubled. The streets are under close guard and at present the city is quiet enough, but another outbreak is expected tonight. The men engaged in the demonstration do not seem to be quite clear in their minds as to the cause of the movement. Some told the Associated Press that the trouble was because of the arrival of the prisoners from the Black sea, while others were under the mistaken impression that they will be ordered to the near east and are protesting.

REGULAR DIVISIONS ARE COMING TO DEVENS

CAMP DEVENS, June 18.—Three regular army divisions and four regiments of United States cavalry are to pass through Camp Devens on their return from the front. According to a letter from the adjutant general of the army, which was addressed to the commanding general here, the 5th, 6th and 7th divisions of the regular army will come to Devens to be broken up and distributed to the regular posts and forts in various parts of the country, and they will be followed by the 2d, 3d, 6th and 15th United States cavalry regiments.

Officers say that, though these divisions are classified as regular army divisions, there are thousands and thousands of the national guard and national army men among them. These men were sent to the regular divisions as replacements. Thousands of New England men are among these divisions. It was stated. It was pointed out that the two infantry brigades of the 15th Division were broken up almost as soon as they landed in France. Nothing definite was given out there, regarding the part at which the three above-named divisions will land, but it is presumed they will land at Brest.

The band of the 2nd Regiment, Coast Artillery Corps, that has been stationed at Fort Williams, Portland, Me., and which has been assigned to duty with the reserve officers' training camp, which opens here Saturday, arrived in camp late yesterday. The band consists of 20 pieces.

PRESSMEN'S UNION OFFICIAL IS SUED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 18.—Major George L. Berry, international president of the Pressmen's union, was last night served with papers in a suit brought by the Chicago Printing Pressmen's union, asking that he and his associates in the management of the union be restrained from transacting its business and asking for a receiver. The suit is returnable in the United States court in Chattanooga, Tenn., on Saturday.

William L. Haas, the chief complainant, charges that funds of the union to the amount of $187,000 have been misused. Haas, who was accompanied by James L. Barclay when the papers were served, declared that the suit would prevent the international union from carrying out its program of revoking the charter of the Frankin union of New York city of which Barclay is president, or interfering with any other union.

Major Berry said last night that the suit is part of a fight set up by Barclay in an attempt to secure control of the union while he, Berry, was serving in the army in France.

DIED SUDDENLY Vice President of New Haven R.R. Passes Away

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 18.—J. Munson Tomlinson, vice president of the N. Y., N. H. & H. railroad, in charge of accounts, died suddenly at his home in this city, early this morning of apoplexy. He was 59 years of age and had been connected with the road for 30 years.

DYNAMO CALLED "ADVERTISING"

Advertising is telling somebody else something about yourself. Modern business capitalizes this idea through the medium of the printed page and it is called commercial advertising. Today more than ever before it is possible to tell the public in a dignified, forceful manner, who, where and what you are. Advertising is a dynamic force working for you at all times. The circulation of the newspaper multiplies the power of your sales arguments. You are not able to talk to 20,000 people at one time effectually as to some special thing you were going to sell but the newspaper can do it for you. WATCH THIS CASE

The United States senate committee on privileges and elections has recommended an investigation of the election of Senator Truman H. Newberry, which is contested by Henry Ford. Perhaps the term "whitewashing" would better express the republican intent than investigation. Will the committee have the courtesy to wait until Mr. Ford shall have finished his libel suit against the Chicago Tribune? We rather think not!

In its disposition of this election case the senate has an opportunity as plain as its duty to decide whether large and lavish, if not reprehensible, expenditure of money is enough to give title to a seat in that branch of congress; whether violations of the law—such as are charged—are to be condoned by a body whose function it is to frame laws.

There is no denial that Mr. Newberry's apparent plurality at the polls was obtained by the use of very large sums of money. The law limits the personal expenditures by or on behalf of senatorial candidates to $10,000. It is admitted that there was an outlay of $178,000 in Mr. Newberry's primary campaign alone. There is evidence for the presumption that an even bigger amount was used in furthering his election.

Mr. Ford has a right to demand from the senate a guarantee that a candidate who respects and obeys the law shall not be defeated by an opponent in whose interest the law is ignored and violated. There is, obviously, involved in this contest a more important consideration than Mr. Ford's political fortunes. There is the question whether such brazen attempts to influence elections by unlawful use of money are to be rewarded by membership in "the greatest deliberative body in the world," whether ballots or slush funds are to determine who shall hold public office.

At this moment, the democratic membership in the senate is two fewer than the republican membership. With Mr. Ford in and Mr. Newberry out, the numerical strength of the parties would be equal. If, instead of a majority, the republicans had but a parity of votes in that branch of congress, legislation upon the momentous internal problems that must soon be solved might easily take a very different course than it now seems likely to follow.

The senate's action and decision in this contest will be of the utmost concern to the country, which wants a continuance of the progressive tendencies which characterized the democratic congresses of the last eight years; it will be of importance to Mr. Ford, who furnishes evidence that he was beaten by illegal means and methods; it will be of significance to the senate, which must have some thought of preventing a taint upon its membership.

SAFE LABOR LEADERS

This is a time when conservative leadership is greatly needed, and nowhere is it more necessary than in labor organizations.

In the ranks of labor unions, there is usually a radical element seeking to control the organizations. This feature presented itself at the convention of the American Federation of Labor at Atlantic City, and but for the presence of Samuel Gompers, the convention might have gone on record in favor of the Mooney strike to intimidate the courts and also in favor of a modified form of Bolshevism in a semi-endorsement of the chaotic soviet government in Russia. This, too, was averted through the appeals of the more conservative men in the convention. Had the convention favored either proposition, it would have placed the entire organization in the category of the dangerous elements in this country.

But while President Gompers rules as head of the organization,

none of these wild schemes will meet with favor except from the few radicals who push their way into the unions and secure election as delegates. Many of these men are good talkers and, therefore, able to sway their brother members, particularly when the men of sound judgment are absent. The convention is to be congratulated upon driving the radical element to the rear and upholding respect for law and order in standing firmly against interference with the administration of justice, even in capital cases.

GERMANS BLUFFING

It now comes to light that Germany has been bluffing the allies in appealing for more time, and particularly in defeating the purposes of the treaty in the territories that are to be transferred to Poland. Some six weeks ago, Polish troops entered Germany under the assumption that there would be no obstruction to their transit; but it now appears that they have been held up in sections at different points in order that Germany might establish her authority in upper Silesia so that in spite of anything the allies may say, that province may be dominated by the Huns.

It appears also that the Germans have so arranged matters that if forced to withdraw their troops from upper Silesia, the Poles will find a legacy of great mining industries laid in ruins, a general wreckage similar to the conditions found in Belgium and France after the trail of the Germans. Germany has an army of 130,000 men in upper Silesia doing everything possible to defeat the purpose of the proposed plebiscite. There is little opportunity for a fair expression of preference on the part of the people, so long as the arrangements are under German military control.

THE JITNEY SERVICE

The present car strike will doubtless give an impetus to the jitney service throughout the city. It appears that some extension of the jitney service is necessary to supplement the unsatisfactory car service, even when there is no car strike in progress. The eyes of the public have been opened to the actual situation. They cannot safely rely upon the car service and must be prepared to furnish other means of conveyance whenever that fails. During the three days which the strike has been in progress, the people have depended almost entirely on auto transportation. As this was conducted, it might be supposed that accidents might have occurred; but fortunately, there has been an absence of any serious accident except in one case in which, apparently, the victim was entirely to blame. It seems that there should be some way by which a jitney service can be arranged, that will offer the maximum convenience with the minimum risk of accident. This is a problem on which our municipal council will undoubtedly have to pass in the near future. The public finds that under the circumstances, it cannot safely put all its eggs in one basket.

STORING DYNAMITE

In view of the recent attempts to blow up the residences of government officials, to dynamite street cars and other outrages of the kind, it is absolutely necessary to have more stringent regulations for the sale, use and storage of explosives by contractors and others. The federal authorities have arrested a German on a charge of having dynamite in his possession, supposed to have been stolen from the tool chest of a Boston Golf club and to have been given to the Lawrence car strikers for the purpose of blowing up street cars.

Contractors and others who may have occasion to use dynamite for legitimate purposes should be obliged to keep it where no alien enemy, no I.W.W. or Bolshevik can reach it. There is need for reform in these matters in the interest of public safety.

FOCH READY TO ACT

There has been altogether too much dilly-dallying over the German protests. Marshal Foch has now taken steps to proceed along the only lines that will appeal to Germany—those of force.

Germany will sign no terms to bind her to anything, except under compulsion. That may as well come soon as late. The Germans are playing their old game of false diplomacy, but they have reached the limit. The "jig" is up. Marshal Foch has the final act prepared. It is to march into the heart of Germany—into Berlin, and put an end forever to German bluff unless her delegates place their "John Hancock" on the dotted line.

Although it is generally admitted that the housing problem today stands as one of the community's most vexing problems, we believe landlords have it in their power to alleviate the condition somewhat by a simple antidote of common sense and humanitarian action. There are houses, tenements and flats vacant in the city, but in nine cases out of ten, they are absolutely unobtainable by persons who have children in the family group. This is not a far-fetched or biased statement, but, rather, one of deplorable fact. Landlords without number flatly refuse to "let" if children are to be included in the occupancy, saying that the juvenile element ruins woodwork and, in cases of apartment houses, causes disturbance to other tenants. Bosh! Would the plutocratic landlords have society abandon its religious duty of raising future citizens in order the more easily to gain a dwelling? This is not fiction, but a daily occurrence which should be frowned upon before it grows to alarming proportions.

The most encouraging news we have had in months in relation to the prospect that meat prices may fall, comes from Chicago. The packers insist that the reason they are storing 100,000,000 pounds of beef per month is because war time economy in use of meat is still in force. This may be so, but unless the packers have some ostensible traits, why not credit the condition to the fact that a large number of American women are not experiencing much hardship while they wait for meat prices to fall?

That Brooklyn doctor who brings suit for $28,000 against the estate of a woman he says he attended 14 years and never rendered a bill, staggers our credulity. She told him not to send a bill. He would be taken care of in her will, she said. You can collect a bill for services rendered from a live one, perhaps, but putting it up to a cadaver, or even to the estate of deceased is, to say the least, a dubious proposition.

The trustees of the street railway company should show some activity in bringing the strike to an end. The issue involved is one that can be settled better by union officials and the trustees than by the parties in conflict. It is asked whether the company is made reckless as to the duration of the strike because its deficits are to be met by the public.

The Boston Herald makes a feature of a Cambridge girl posing in the almost nude and publishes her picture with the comment that for doing such things, the young lady's New England ancestors would have been hanged. If the act on the part of the young lady were reprehensible, much more so was it for the Herald to publish life like pictures of the objectionable scene.

With the people of Boston confronted by the prospect of dime car fares, it ought to make Henry Ford turn out drivers with renewed enthusiasm. There has certainly never been a time when there were more sound practical reasons why the man with three or more people in his family should purchase a cheap and serviceable automobile, than at present.

The merchants of Lowell are the chief sufferers from the car strike. The suburban industries have managed very effectively to transport their employees to and from work. The merchants cannot send jitneys after their customers and hence they suffer most seriously from the suspension of the car service.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

That the Knights of Columbus war work organization is still actively on the job in France, although not so much may be published about it as formerly, is proven by a letter the mother of Lieut. Richard D. Donohue, U. S. A. quartermaster's department, Transport Square, has received from him written from Bordeaux, France, in the course of this letter he says: "I went to the Knights of Columbus office here in this city to see if the organization had any supplies to spare for the troops we will carry across on our transport now in a few days and also for the members of the crew. I met the general secretary, a Mr. Davis of Salem, Mass. Early the next morning the K. of C. truck was at our pier with large cases of candy, tobacco, cigars, soap, writing paper and magazines. They also sent a violin and believing this one would not be enough, this Mr. Davis wired to Paris to get us two more. This was certainly fine treatment and you will realize that the officers of the ship were immensely pleased. I think it is no wonder the organization receives so many compliments and the financial help forthcoming has been so generous."

In connection with the fine welcoming home to Chelmsford boys, Tuesday, and the exercises conducted on North Chelmsford common, a Lowell newspaperman, friend of Col. J. F. J. Herbert of Worcester of the 102d Field Artillery, was able to do the colonel and the people in the large audience, a good turn. The troubles and getting lost on the way over to North Chelmsford from Worcester—the latter the fault of his driver—were responsible for Col. Herbert arriving at the speakers' stand at just about the time the band was starting its last selection of the afternoon. The Lowell reporter who knew and recognized Col. Herbert hurrying towards the stand, tipped off the presiding officer, Selectman Justin L. Moore. The result was that the band was stopped and Mr. Moore very quick wittedly made the kind of an announcement that caused all present in the audience to remain and hear the eloquent Worcester editor deliver his address. It later appeared that most of the people in the audience recognized from reading the program that the "artillery colonel" who stood Chicago on its head and pilloried its pro-German mayor at the St. Louis convention had been invited to speak, and were very anxious to hear Col. Herbert's message. The colonel was invited to remain to partake or supper in company with the Chelmsford boys at the special supper served them in a tent on the common and it was evidently a pleasure for him to once again meet "comrades" with whom he was associated during the war.

A well known local attorney was inquiring what time the barber shops closed on Saturday evening, and I heard his friend, who is one of the city's prominent bankers reply that he did not know, as he always shaved himself and opined that every man should do so. The inquiring attorney also remarked that he always shaved himself. "When what do you care about barber shops?" asked the banker. "Don't you suppose I ever need a haircut?" said his friend with an outburst of laughter.

One of the prettiest rides that one can take right here in Lowell in the absence of street cars is up the Merrimack river in a canoe or other watercraft starting just above Pawtucket falls and heading in the direction of North Chelmsford. Particularly on the boulevard shore is the scenery most attractive, especially at this time of the year. The river bank seems to be a mass of green, vibrating at times, with soft breezes blowing the leaves of overhanging trees. One can't get a fair view of the beauty of the river bank unless he is actually out in the water. Curving and jutting continually it is a constant source of new interest to the naval wayfarer. They say that one can't appreciate Rome without being in Rome and I truly believe after recent experience that one can't truly appreciate the Merrimack without getting right into midstream and viewing the beauties of the shores from that position. There are several people along the river who rent canoes and boats in the summer and as far as I can see, there has been no attempt at profiteering by these people. Try it out some of these sultry nights if you are at all handy with the oars and paddle.

Fresh Air for Sale

The last straw that gave the camel rubber knees has again made its appearance. Reports come in that some gas markets are beginning to set the "Free Air" signs in harmony with the cash register. So the optimists who chirp, "Oh, well, they can't charge us for air," are sitting on a piece of gum. Some of the gas bazaar are asking a twin jitney for the use of setting a quartet of rindown tires on their feet again. Tacking a price on air, and you have to wrap it up yourself. One of these days some wise cuckoo will get together with the landlords and form a consolidated air corporation, and charge us up for so many cubic feet of breathing air per month. Everybody will wear an air meter. If you don't pay your bill by the 1st of the month, they'll shut off your air!

Not in Mourning Mood

Tensed into it, Bools had accompanied his wife on an excursion to the realms of bargains, and in the enormous building, with its many departments, had become separated from his better half.

For an hour at least he remained lounging impatiently at the junction of many ways, where elevators, stairs and passageways met, and then, tired and angry, he approached a floor-walker.

Back came the reply with stunning force:

But Bools waited on.—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Looked Stinky to Her

She worked at the minister's house for three days and then went to a neighbor and begged her to give her a place for the remainder of the week, so she could get home.

"Why," said the neighbor, inquiringly, "I thought you were employed by Mrs. S—." What is the reason that you are leaving?"

"I just can't stay there another minute," the girl told her. "Brother S— is the stinkiest man I ever knew."

"Stinky! Why, the whole family is known far and wide for its benevolence. What in the world makes you say that?" she asked.

"Ma'am," whispered the girl tragically, as if she were revealing state secrets, "ma'am, don't you know, brother S— sits up at one end of the table and measures out just how much every one of them can have to eat afore he ever gives 'em a plate, even? I can't stay where there's any such goin's on!"—Indianapolis News.

PROTESTS BONUS OF $50,000 TO DONHAM

BOSTON, June 19.—William F. Fitzgerald, Boston banker, has filed with Gov. Coolidge a public protest against the allowance recently made by Judge Morton in the United States district court of $50,000 to Wallace B. Donham for services as receiver of the Bay State Street railway during 18 months. Mr. Donham had also been receiving during that period a salary at the rate of $15,000 a year. The letter of protest is as follows:

"I wish to protest publicly against the granting of a bonus of $50,000 to Receiver Donham, in addition to his regular salary, because of the character of his work as receiver.

"The proposition of handling a state street railway is, and has been, a simple one, and all that is necessary is the use of ordinary business methods.

"From my standpoint Mr. Donham has failed to conduct the road with ordinary business ability, and that a man should get such a substantial bonus after showing such deplorable results is, in my judgment, contrary to public policy."

EPWORTH LEAGUE'S ANNUAL BANQUET

The annual banquet of the Epworth league, of the Centralville M. E. church was held in the church last evening, and a large number of members and friends of the organization were on hand for the occasion. The principal speaker was Rev. R. M. Pierce of Boston, who told of the need of young workers in the Methodist church, and pointed out the opportunities for service which are offered to the young men of today.

Following a short business meeting officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, Miss Sadie Munson; first vice president, Joseph P. Garmon; second vice president, Mrs. Mary Peters; third vice president, Miss Laura Whitney; fourth vice president, Mrs. Fred Colburn; secretary, Miss Mildred G. Smith; treasurer, Gaylord Hiser and pianist, Mrs. F. J. Healey.

The banquet was served by the following women of the Ladies' Aid society of the church: Mrs. F. J. Healey, president; Mrs. Albert Swapp, Mrs. Arthur Hiser, Mrs. Walter F. Whitney, Mrs. Walter Chris, Mrs. Mary Peters, Mrs. A. Culley, Miss Mary Peard, Mrs. Fred Whittier and Mrs. Albion Gregory.

TIPS FROM THE CHIEF OF POLICE

Autos must not park within 75 feet of the principal downtown corners, says the city ordinance, and Chief Welch calls attention to the fact that this regulation includes the intersection of Merrimack and John street. Many complaints have been made to the chief by business houses in this section, and he intends to see that the parking regulations there are strictly observed in future. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

Look Out For Him!

Lowell folks are requested by the chief to keep their eyes open for an alleged swindler who has been operating in Boston for the past week. Frank and his game is to attempt to cash checks at business houses in the city in which he stops made out to man of that name in Boston. He is about 30 years old, of medium weight and five feet, 9 inches in height.

Quick Recovery

The Lowell police are all to the good, says Frank Holden, 9 West street. Frank's auto was stolen at circus grounds Monday evening, and he reported the matter to Supt. Welch. Frank's auto was located in Somerville early Tuesday morning. And no Frank's auto is safely back with its owner, and all is well.

$100 BONUS BILL IS PASSED BY SENATE

BOSTON, June 19.—The state senate yesterday afternoon passed to be engrossed the $100 bonus bill for those of Massachusetts who participated in the world war, including commissioned officers, enlisted men, field clerks, army nurses and members of the Student Army Training Corps.

Senator Winchester of Dorchester was unsuccessful in his attempt to have the bill amended to include those who enlisted in the armies of the allies. He praised their patriotism and said they should be recognized in the same manner as the men in the United States army and navy.

Senator Beck of Chelsea declared that the Americans in the Canadian army had received a bonus from the Dominion government.

Senator Cavanaugh of Everett was opposed. He said he had received a letter from a yeoman (F), in which the latter stated that "many of the girls do not recognize Miss May G. Hurley as their spokeswoman." Miss Hurley is the young woman who appeared before the legislative committee to urge that yeomen (F) be included.

Inasmuch as the house, when it passed the bill, did not include the S. A. T. C., the measure will be returned to the lower branch for concurrent action.

Compulsory Voting Beaten

The senate rejected the compulsory voting bill, 18 to 6. In urging the measure Senator Loring of Beverly said that the lack of interest in voting among certain people is so pronounced that they can be induced to go to the polls only in automobiles or carriages paid for by candidates. He declared that more than $750,000 is spent annually by candidates to convert voters to the polls.

Senator Walsh in opposing the bill said: "The passage of this measure would put a considerable number of estimable gentlemen out of a job. I refer to the members of the republican state committee. It would be a shame to deprive these gentlemen of the duty of getting out the vote. It would deprive them of the opportunity to make a living."

A resolve was adopted requesting the attorney general and the state insurance commissioner to investigate the feasibility of establishing a system of compensation for persons injured or killed as a result of automobile accidents and of a system of compulsory insurance on the part of automobile owners. The resolve was substituted on motion of Senator Nason of Haverhill for an adverse committee report on his bill "for the protection of persons and property in case of injuries due to the careless operation of motor vehicles."

After some debate the senate passed to be engrossed, 14 to 5, a bill providing that employment certificates be issued to school children of 14 years of age who have reached the sixth grade in school. The law at present permits the issuance of certificates to those who have passed the fourth grade.

The committee on metropolitan affairs reported a bill to reorganize and consolidate the penal institutions, infirmaries, children's institutions and institution registration department of the city of Boston.

The committee on legal affairs reported "ought to pass" on the recommended bill forbidding the sale of jewelry and similar articles by auction after 5 p. m.

The senate passed to be engrossed the bill fixing a fee of $1 for resident hunters and fishermen.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come:

THE STRAND
Never give up the ship. It may be wrecked but long journeys may still be made. In the new William Fox super-production, "The Siren's Song," featuring Theda Bara, which is to be shown for the first time today, the heroine believes her like has come to end when her lover kills her. Miss Bara gives one of the most dramatic portrayals in this picture of her entire career. The story concerns a light-house keeper's daughter in Brittany. Jilted by her lover, she goes to Paris, where she soon becomes a great prima donna. Hearing of her fame her villainous lover meets her again and discovers that she is living with the man she loves. He pleads with her and sermonizes until she gives up her lover and returns to her home. She then finds that his spiritual fervor merely covers a carnal passion for her. Heartbroken over her wrecked life she loses her

Massachusetts Resident Recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills To Those Needing a Tonic

Three generations of people have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood-builder and the present popularity of the remedy is due, in a large measure, to the endorsement of those who have received benefit from the treatment. Among those who owe their health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and are anxious that others should profit by their experience, is Mrs. H. G. Langlois, of No. 13 Homer avenue, Cambridge, Mass. She says: "I was weak and run down and had no strength. My appetite was poor and whenever I went up or down stairs I became exhausted. My heart fluttered badly at times and my stomach was weak. I had not a particle of color, was a sufferer from headache and was very nervous and irritable."

"Upon the advice of a friend, who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with benefit, I decided to try them to build up my blood. I felt better after taking the second box and could soon see a decided improvement. My strength was restored, I had a better appetite and was not nearly so nervous. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are fine and am glad to recommend them to others."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by your own druggist or will be sent direct by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free book "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

voice while sinking at a patriotic benefit. She retires from her professional life and becomes once more a fisher-maid of the little village of Brittany. Eventually the man she loves returns, and they are married.

How an American youth, after a long and bitter struggle, won fame as a composer of an opera, is the theme of the latest photoplay, "Words and Music By—," in which Albert Ray and Elinor Fair are appearing. The stars are comparatively new to fiction but they are making rapid strides to the top of the ladder of popularity. Their work certainly merits it.

A new comedy and one of the latest Universal Weekly series will be shown and there will be new song numbers by Miss Breene. Patrons are again reminded of the fact that 10 cents sees it all and that The Strand is always cool and comfortable.

This theatre will give a handsome live Shetland pony, with cowboy riding outfit, free to the most popular boy or girl of Lowell and suburbs. The particulars will be announced in a few days. Watch out for this announcement and learn how this wonderful offer is to be carried out. Get all set for a real surprise. Tell the children to be on the watch for the papers during the latter part of the week.

DESCRIBES HENRY FORD'S "FLAG OF HUMANITY"

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., June 19.—A shadow of Henry Ford's "flag of humanity" was unfurled in Judge Tucker's court yesterday in course of the hearing of Mr. Ford's libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune.

Evidence in the case has quoted Mr. Ford as opposing flags of nations as obsolete—"something to rally around" or as "the refuge of scoundrels"—and as advocating a "flag of humanity," the creation of which he was said to have referred to in a fugitive remark in 1915.

Yesterday Irving Bacon, an illustrator in the photographic and advertising departments of the Ford Motor company, was called to the stand.

"It was quite a long time ago and I do not recall clearly the incident," said the witness. "I think, however, that the idea of designing such a flag was put to me either by Dean Marquis, head of the educational department, or Mr. Brownell, the advertising manager. I made some sort of a sketch in water colors. I believe the field was purple and the world was shown, and symbols of universal brotherhood, fraternity, peace and industry—things like that."

Other witnesses yesterday were Henry A. Wise Wood, New York engineer, manufacturer and inventor, who was a member of the conference committee on national preparedness, the co-ordinating body of preparedness organizations, and who, for a few months in 1915, was a member of the navy advisory board; Willis J. Abbott, the writer, long associated with Hearst publications, and Floyd Gibbons, Tribune correspondent, cross-examination of whom was concluded.

Mr. Wood said he interviewed Mr. Ford in Detroit in 1916 in an attempt to convert the manufacturer to the preparedness view. The latter, the witness said, was rather impatient of his arguments and remarked that "flags were something to rally round" and that after the world war they would all be hauled down.

They talked also of the "$5 a day minimum wage" at the Ford plant, and the witness testified that Mr. Ford said this scale, or profit-sharing plan, was not a humanitarian, but a profitable economic measure. It was good business, Mr. Ford said, as it increased the average output, minimized labor turnover and reduced the amount of plant expansion and capital requirements, according to the witness.

Mr. Abbott's testimony indicated that in 1918, when the Ford plant was largely given over to war work, Mr. Ford had become one of the most militant of the opponents of Germany. Mr. Abbott read a long magazine article to the jury and court which he wrote in 1918, based on a visit to the Ford plant and two interviews with the manufacturer.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears in red on both sides of the bottle. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing spurious medicines into their families.

It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed counterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness.

Your Friend, the Physician.

The history of all medicines carries with it the story of battles against popular beliefs: fights against prejudice: even differences of opinion among scientists and men devoting their lives to research work; laboring always for the betterment of mankind. This information is at the hand of all physicians. He is with you at a moment's call, be the trouble trifling or great. He is your friend, your household counselor. He is the one to whom you can always look for advice, even though it might not be a case of sickness. He is not just a doctor. He is a student to his last and final call. His patients are his family and to lose one is little less than losing one of his own flesh and blood.

treating a headache, there is one safe rule to follow—Never use any Medicine containing acetanilid or similar coal-tar derivatives without the advice of your physician. They may give temporary relief, but they almost never reach the cause of the trouble and are likely to weaken the heart. The most common form of headache, frequently called "brain ache," arising from a disordered stomach, may be avoided by care in the choice of food. Shun pastry, candy and rich food, take time to eat, chew your food thoroughly and keep your bowels in good condition by using one-half to one teaspoonful of "L. F." Lifebuoy's Medicine after each meal. This old reliable remedy has won a perfect blessing to thousands for sixty years. Get a bottle today, and prove it for yourself. How to keep your skin healthy

WASH it! And there's more to "just washing" than you think. To keep your skin in a clear healthy condition you must give it the kind of washing that protects.

Your skin naturally collects a certain amount of dirt and perspiration. Every skin does. Only you must not allow these impurities to stay in. They will make your skin not only unpleasant to look at but actually unhealthy.

Don't give them the chance to make trouble. Protect your skin with the right kind of cleansing. Lifebuoy Health Soap was made for just this purpose—to cleanse thoroughly.

Its mild, antiseptic lather works right into the pores and leaves your skin as it should be—fresh and clear—free from impurities.

The clean antiseptic smell of Lifebuoy is the guarantee of its thorough cleansing power. One whiff of that pure, wholesome odor and you know why Lifebuoy protects your skin, keeps it what the doctors call clean!

Try a cake—you can get it at any grocery, drug or department store. Use Lifebuoy every day—for the face, hands, bath—and see the difference it makes. Watch your skin take on that clear out-of-doors look that means a healthy skin.

GERMAN OFFICIALS CONSULT EX-KAISER

AMFRONGEN, Tuesday, June 19.—(By Associated Press.)—The former German emperor's place of exile in Amerongen castle again became somewhat animated last night, after a long period of uneventfulness.

Lieut. Col. Hofer of the Dutch army dined at the castle with William Hohenzollern and Dr. Krieger, director of the German foreign office, who had returned to Amerongen from Berlin.

Yesterday Col. von Eschke, dressed in civilian clothes, was brought by Gen. von Esdorff to the castle from Arnheim, where he had arrived direct from Germany. The reason for the visit of the Germans has not been ascertained, but it is generally assumed it is in connection with the situation existing in Germany after the announcement of the reply of the allies to the German counter proposals to the peace terms. Gen. von Esdorff today is about to leave for Germany.

The former emperor expressed great interest recently when informed that a party of 12 American naval ratings from Rotterdam had visited Amerongen castle and its surroundings. He asked the attendants what ships the Americans came from and was exceedingly annoyed when the attendants had not noticed the names of the vessels.

LOWELL HAS STRENGTH TO BEAT HAVERHILL

Hits for extra bases allowed Lowell to take another game from Haverhill in the Shoe City yesterday, 4 to 2. Although Burkett's team hit Clark's pitching safely eight times they were never able to dangerously bunch their drives.

Burkett had several new men in the field and on the bench as his first step toward strengthening the club. Bossie, Lowell centerfielder, had his usual merry time with the stick and hit a single, a double and a home run. The score:

The Call'em

For several years past the Lawrence Jiff, Co. has been doing more to develop the athletic minds of its employees than any other local industrial establishment. It has given and kept in condition a splendid baseball park and the employees are showing their appreciation by generous usage. There is a hustling little league at the plant this season, playing twilight baseball and being conducted on a substantial basis of management. An executive committee of five wives looks after the welfare of the organization and they have been instrumental in effecting a schedule and running the games. More power to them!

Says He's All Done. We met John H. Condon, the Connie Mack of the South common yesterday and he was full of praise for his bunch of Edison school champions, who have just capped off the grammar school title for the third year. John never takes any of the credit, but nevertheless, other people give him a good share of it. He says he is all through as a coach, but next year the boys will have to look elsewhere. "They ride me harder than Johnny Evers used to crab in the National," says Condon, "and it's a good bet that he'll be 'in there' next year shaking the old pepper box."

Who Wouldn't Like It? Larry Cummings pulled a new one the other day. We were talking about the 15 big league teams during the season, shifted to baseball and Larry said: "Do you know—if I had a lot of money and the same amount of interest in baseball that I have now, I'd travel around the country to see all the big league ball clubs playing on their home grounds. And I think it would be an interesting trip, too." So do we, and not hard to take.

A Second Toledo. If Lawrence men keep up their good work of promoting successful outdoor boxing matches they may grow up to fill shoes of the size worn by Tex Rickard. Rumors about now link the manager of Benny Vagter and Johnny Dundee and Jack Britton and Ted Lewis for bouts on July 4. Either of the two would knock the cream right on the top of the bottle.

What D'ye Mean, Conjure? Bill Phelan in reviewing the work of the 15 big league teams during the first quarter of the race says, in speaking of the Boston Red Sox: "With Barry back and Vitt playing at third base, the infield of the world champions is truly marvelous—something to conjure over." Yeah? Conjure, is right. Barry isn't playing and Vitt gets barked out for a pinch hitter almost every day—three times in the late Cleveland series.

TENNIS POPULAR

Sport Had Healthy Revival in Colleges This Year

Commencement marks the end of the intercollegiate tennis season and now that an opportunity is given to examine the records for 1919, it appears that the game has more than regained the place it held before the war. In many sections of the country the schedule of schools and colleges surpassed anything that had been previously arranged in this sport. Yale person had the most remarkable record in the east as the team from New Haven, under the leadership of Charles S. Garland, former Junior champion, did not lose a single match. The freshmen at Yale also won all their events, so the prospects are for a strong team next season. The New England Intercollegiate championship was resumed on the courts of Longwood Cricket club, being won by Hermann Brookman of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The event attracted a good entry and was well played. Members of the New England Intercollegiate Tennis association, in addition to their regular matches, held many interscholastic tournaments, which attracted players from the preparatory schools.

The interscholastic tournaments were quite a feature of the season for Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Pennsylvania resumed the tournament which had been discontinued during the war. A number of these events were arranged in other sections of the country. An illustration of their importance can be obtained from the prominence given the Ohio intercollegiate championship held at Ohio State university.

In the middle west Walter Wesbrook of Michigan and Fritz Bastian of Indiana were two of the most prominent young players. Wesbrook made quite a record in the east last summer and Bastian is remembered for his excellent record in the junior championship. It is thought that both of them will compete in some of the important eastern events this summer.

HORSE RACING JULY 4

Classy Performers Will Step High, Wide and Pretty at Golden Cove Track

One of the big features of Lowell's July fourth celebration will be staged at Golden Cove park where a program of horse races that will recall olden days in Lowell will be turned on by the Lowell Driving club. The track will be put in the pink of condition and entries will include horses from various cities, including Boston.

Dewey, one of the real live wires of the Lowell Driving club, is authority for the statement that Lowell is going to see something worth while in the line of horse racing on Independence day. Not another man connected with the association has worked any harder in its interest than the association and the sport which it represents than has the genial Oscar and he's on tap to tell the world that the big show hereabouts for July 4 will be tented at Golden Cove.

"We are going to have some fast ones here July 4," said Oscar, "and we are going to put the track in such good condition that the visitors will want to come often. I want to tell you, Mister, that Golden Cove park is just in its infancy and before many years have elapsed, Lowell will be down on the map as having one of the best half-mile tracks in the country. There is a big revival of the sport in Lowell already. We have some corking horses here and Golden Cove park is becoming more attractive every day. Each meet we hold there brings a bigger crowd than the previous meet and the Lowell Driving club intends to develop it beyond the horse racing stage. We are going to make it the home of a big agricultural fair some day. Lamp us and see."

Wotton Buys Silver King. Oscar Dewey is not kidding when he says that Lowell has some fast horses and another fast one has been annexed in the purchase of Silver King (2:05 1/4), by L. B. Wotton, the owner of Balen (2:14 1/4). Balen is going to start at Hill's Grove, N. H., next week, and when Balen starts he starts to win.

Mr. Wotton is to be congratulated for the going sport spirit exhibited by him as well as for the ownership of these two splendid campaigners. The price paid for Silver King by Mr. Wotton was $10,000. He bought the horse from a White River Junction, Vt. Short Ship circuit.

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home when the whole family is there to read it. The Sun fills this bill in Lowell.

MORAN AND CURRY TO MEET HERE TONIGHT

Johnny Moran, now looked upon as one of the most promising lightweight champions in the world, will be given a severe test tonight at the Crescent A.A. when he meets Joe Curry of New Haven in the main bout of 12 rounds. Moran, while in the navy won the lightweight championship of the fleet, and since donning his "civils" he has participated in two bouts, winning both via the K. O. route. He beat Soldier Howard of New Bedford and Frank Moines of Lowell. If successful against Curry tonight, he has been promised a number of attractive matches, and he has trained diligently with the object of landing the big bouts. His manager, Jackie Williams, notified us today that Moran is in the pink of condition and confident of winning. The other bouts scheduled for tonight are of a classy variety. Tony Vatin, of Cambridge, and Young Charles of Manchester, are booked to show in the semi final of eight rounds. This number ought to be a whizzer from going to song. Both are willing workers and pack good "kicks." Harry Conley of Lowell and Chappie Conroy of Lawrence, a pair of aggressive youngsters, who fought a whirling bout here a few months ago, will meet in one preliminary and Young Diamond of Lowell and Willie Green, also of this city will entertain in the others.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

At the present time the Lawrence Mfg. Co. baseball league is close enough to satisfy anybody. Yarn Department and Underwear are tied for the lead with four games won and two lost, while Mechanical and Hose are fighting each other to keep out of last place, with two wins and four defeats. A double-header will be played Saturday afternoon, the first game to be called at 1:30 o'clock. The company ones are going to have some fast ones here July 4, said Oscar, "and we are going to put the track in such good condition that the visitors will want to come often. I want to tell you, Mister, that Golden Cove park is just in its infancy and before many years have elapsed, Lowell will be down on the map as having one of the best half-mile tracks in the country. There is a big revival of the sport in Lowell already. We have some corking horses here and Golden Cove park is becoming more attractive every day. Each meet we hold there brings a bigger crowd than the previous meet and the Lowell Driving club intends to develop it beyond the horse racing stage. We are going to make it the home of a big agricultural fair some day. Lamp us and see."

HAVERHILL COACH

Broderick Will Not Work For Less Than $1000

HAVERHILL, June 18.—Robert W. Broderick's demand for an increase in salary as football coach at the Haverhill high school has caused a dispute between the authorities. Should the advisory committee on athletics grant him an increase, Judge Otis J. Corlison of the school committee threatens in attempt to abolish the advisory body. Judge Corlison does not sympathize with Broderick's request.

Broderick is paid as drawing supervisor by the school board and receives $1000 from the advisory committee on athletics as football coach. In the past about $400 additional has been annually paid through athletic association.

YALE OUTLASTS THE CRIMSON, 10 TO 8

CAMBRIDGE, June 19.—In one of the weirdest games of baseball ever staged by Harvard and Yale teams, the Blue triumphed over the Crimson at Soldiers' Field yesterday afternoon, 10 to 8. Harvard overcame Yale's lead in the eighth inning and scored seven runs and had the game apparently won. The New Haven team smacked back with six runs in the ninth and win out, 10 to 8.

A PAGEANT OF PROGRESS

Members of League of Catholic Women Stage Pretty Affair at the Opera House

Pictorial Fantasy of Women's Achievements Ably Presented Last Evening

A remarkably convincing portrayal of what woman has done for the United States from its early pioneer days up to the present time was offered last evening by the League of Catholic Women to an audience which completely filled the Lowell Opera House and which applauded heartily the succeeding tableaux depicting the progress of women in this country.

"A Pageant of Progress" was the title of the affair and it was in the nature of a pictorial fantasy in a single act. The pageant was written by Augustus Raymond Kildred and originally presented by the Women's Professional League at the Empire theatre in New York. Last evening was its first performance in this section of the country and its striking originality and picturesque flavor, combined with perfect subject familiarity and diction on the part of those in the presentation made the evening a most enjoyable one for those fortunate enough to be present.

The local presentation was under the personal direction of Miss Mary C. Joyce, who, despite arduous other duties at this season of the year, unselfishly gave of her time and talents for several months in remodeling the fantasy to suit local conditions, arranging for settings and coaching the participants in their roles. A supreme triumph for the League of Catholic Women in their first stage production and what must have been exultant personal gratification were Miss Joyce's rewards.

The fantasy was admittedly a suffrage advocacy. Every line and action of the affair tended toward that general goal, from the initial tableau depicting the heroism of the American maiden, Pocahontas, saving the life of Capt. John Smith, to the grand finale which gracefully found a climax in the tableau depicting motherhood.

The general scene of the fantasy was laid in what was termed the national hall of state. Uncle Sam sat on his throne, or rather his presidential chair (presumably in the absence of the rightful occupant), and standing by his side was Columbia. In front of him were a score of daughters of Columbia, who had come to the national hall to plead that they be given rights and privileges equal to those of the sons of Columbia. There was the plot of the evening.

Miss Columbia acted as mediator for her daughters and when they lacked breath to tell of their wants and achievements, she took up the thread of argument which sought to convince Uncle Samuel that he should give his women folks the right to vote. At first he couldn't "see it" at all, but gradually he became interested in the subject and sat through some 16 tableaux showing what woman had done to earn the vote. Once more the question was put to him and he admitted that he couldn't decide. Disgusted, his daughters put the question up to the audience and vigorous hand-clapping gave testimony to the fact that those present were mostly of the suffrage persuasion.

Miss Anna Maguire ably portrayed Uncle Sam and she bore the major burden of the speaking parts. Columbia was Miss Charlotte C. Walsh and a capable, dignified lady she was.

The first evidence of their ability which the women pleaders chose to show Uncle Sam was several solos by Miss Ellen Lynch, whose efforts were heartily appreciated. She was followed by Miss Louise Mahoney in a series of artistic dances, as evidence No. 2 that women had contributed to the happiness of the nation.

At this point the fantasy devolved into a series of tableaux, depicting the women leaders and heroines of America from the days of her early settlers to the present time. The first showed Pocahontas defending Captain John Smith when the Indian chief, Powhatan, was about to take his life. Miss Alice Lynch depicted Pocahontas, Miss Alice McMahon Capt. John Smith and Miss Alice Dineen Powhatan.

Proceeding each tableau there was a poetical explanation of its significance by one of the women assembled before Uncle Sam, followed by chorus singing of an appropriate number.

The second tableau depicted Miss Alice M. Cox in the role of Barbara Fritchie, the grand old patriot whose "strike, if you will, this old gray head," has come ringing down in history. The half dozen Confederate soldiers in the scene were enacted by the Misses Myrtle Rooney, Ruth Murphy, Sadie Taff, Harriet McAlone, Madeline Sullivan and Georgianna Keith.

Tableau 3 portrayed Anna Lee, whose work is dear to the hearts of all women. Miss Marguerite DeLorme was the principal in this scene.

Miss Rose Geary portrayed Francis Willard, another American heroine, in the fifth tableau, and the sixth was the Revolutionary heroine, Moll Pitcher, capably and sympathetically depicted by Miss Julia Rafter.

The pioneers of the suffrage movement, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony, were portrayed by Miss Della Brady and Miss Katherine Kelley. They received an exceptionally big hand.

Belle Boyd, Confederate scout, portrayed by Miss May R. O'Neill, was another feature of the evening. Interest in nursing brought about by the war accounted for the hearty applause given to the eighth tableau, which depicted a Red Cross nurse bending over a wounded soldier, and Clara Barton, pioneer in this work, standing in the background. Mrs. B. Callahan was Clara Barton, Miss Helen Cox, the nurse, and Dorothy McAdams, the soldier.

The ninth tableau found a Puritan woman defending her home against an attacking Indian. Miss Alice Flynn was the Puritan, Miss Louise Welch, her child, and Miss Agnes Liston, the Indian.

Particularly inspiring was the tenth tableau depicting a nun in a hospital. Miss Margaret McCluskey played the part well.

Civil war days were again brought to mind by the eleventh tableau which showed Harriet Beecher Stowe and her two famous characters, Uncle Tom and Eva. Miss Anna McCarron was Mrs. Stowe; Miss Mary Dillon, Uncle Tom; and Miss Elizabeth Maguire, Eva.

Rose Joyce made an admirable Betsy Ross in the next picture, and the thirteenth tableau introduced Charlotte Cushman, famous actress, in the role of Meg Merrilies. Miss Julia Rioridan played the part.

Ida Lewis, American naval heroine, was played by Miss Louise Egan. Mrs. George Knapp proved an impressive Julia Ward Howe.

The sixteenth and final tableau was entitled "Maternity," and showed a mother and two children. Mrs. Charles Devine was the mother and little Ellen and Bernice Devine, the children. The "mother" appealed for rights equal to those of men on the ground that she was continuing the life of the nation. The final feature was assembly singing by all those who took part in the fantasy.

Those who had speaking parts in connection with the various tableaux were the Misses Louise Thomas, Mary Martin, Margaret Fox, Dorothy Rioridan, Mary Lang, Gertrude O'Brien, Caroline Downey, Marietta King, Mabel Cassidy, Edith Donohue, Marietta Gormley, Theresa Slattery, Anna Coffey, Margaret Donovan and Clotilda Delany.

The pages were Eva Turcotte and Ellen McEvoy and the heralds, Edward Duffy and Terrence J. Higgins. Miss Charlotte C. Walsh arranged the interpolated music for the tableaux, and Miss Julia Slattery was the pianist. The regular Opera House orchestra furnished the music.

The committee in charge included Dr. Emma Young Slaughter, Miss Grace Delany and Miss Mary C. Joyce.

WILLARD AT TOP FORM

Sergt. Monahan Says Champ 200 Per Cent Better Than When He Beat Johnson

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 19.—Three bouts of eight rounds each and three of three rounds each will precede the 13-round heavyweight championship contest between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey here July 4th, it was announced today by Ad Q. Thatcher, manager of the Toledo Athletic club. The first match will start at 10 o'clock and the boxing will be almost continuous until Willard and his youthful challenger climb into the ring. Sergeant Walter Monahan, chief sparring partner for Willard, said today that in his opinion, Willard is 200 per cent a better boxer than when he fought Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship in Havana in 1915.

"Perhaps my statement will be questioned, but I know what I am talking about," Monahan said. "I believe that Willard is a younger man now, physically speaking, than he was four years ago. He is a far better boxer and fighter. He seems to enjoy his training grind now, while it was an effort for him to condition himself for the Johnson match."

Monahan, while not predicting a knockout for Willard, believes he will win handily. He asserted that no one knows the tremendous hitting power of the champion.

"He knocked me out with a half pulled punch and wore 16-ounce gloves," Monahan added. "Just imagine how he can hit when he lets go with full force and only a five ounce glove on his hands."

SATURDAY'S GAME TO BE TRANSFERRED

Because of the uncertainty in the street railway situation the management of the Lowell Baseball club has deemed it wise to transfer the Fitchburg game, scheduled for Lowell for Saturday, to Fitchburg. This was decided upon this morning and subsequent word was sent to the opposing club. Lowell will therefore, play a series of three games in Fitchburg beginning today.

TRIALS FOR BIG MEET PARIS, Wednesday, June 18.—Fast time in the hundred metre dash was made today by American college and army athletes in the elimination heats to pick teams for the inter-allied games.

So Butler, a negro sprinter from Duquesne college, and Lieut. C. W. Paddock of the University of Southern California, ran the distance in 14.3 seconds, a fifth of a second lower than the world's record.

DAYLIGHT SAVING LAW REPEALED BY CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Doom of the daylight saving, inaugurated as a war measure, was pronounced yesterday by congress, both senate and house adopting by overwhelming votes measures to terminate operation of the law when the period of summer time ends, next Oct. 28.

The house, following three hours' debate, by a vote of 233 to 132, passed a bill to repeal the law on the last Sunday in next October, but rejected an amendment to make the repeal effective at once.

The senate by a vote of 58 to 5, after brief discussion added a rider to the agricultural appropriation bill providing for repeal of the daylight measure on the date fixed by the house bill.

The senate measure now goes to conference with the agricultural bill and the house bill is to be sent to the senate. It is considered likely that senate amendments will be finally substituted for the house measure. Action of congress, therefore, means continuation of the present clock time this summer and early fall, with return to sun time Oct. 28, ending two years' operation of the daylight saving plan.

Members of both senate and house in advocating repeal of the law enacted March 19, 1918, said they were guided largely by wishes of farmers and laboring men who opposed the advanced working hours during the spring and summer season. Opponents of the repeal legislation declared the extra hour of daylight was a boon to city dwellers, and asserted that others could easily adjust their affairs to conform to the advanced clock schedule.

More than two scores of house members participated in the debate, but as most speeches were limited to a few minutes, all obtained permission to extend their remarks. Senate discussion was confined virtually to addresses by Senator LaFollette, republican, of Wisconsin, champion of the repeal rider, and Senator Calder, republican, of New York, author of the daylight law. The six senators who voted against the rider were Calder, Frelinghuysen, Newberry, Paine, Phipps and Robinson, all republicans excepting Senator Robinson.

BOY HIT BY AUTO IS UNINJURED

A boy, aged about seven years, whose name could not be learned, had a very narrow escape from serious injury yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile in Bridge street at a point near the corner of Paige street. The little fellow was knocked down and the machine passed over him, but fortunately the wheels did not touch his body and when he was helped out of his perilous position he ran away without giving his name.

The automobile, a big touring car, is owned and was being operated by J. H. Woodbury, of Berlin, Mass. The latter was driving through Bridge street at about ten miles an hour. When he reached the corner of Paige street he slowed down in order to avoid a crowd of pedestrians in the street. At that time the boy ran from the sidewalk right into the machine, and efforts on the part of Patrolman Swanwick to catch the little fellow were fruitless. The driver applied the brakes and as the machine was moving slowly made a quick stop.

NEWS LETTER TO STUDENTS

Success is sold in the open market. You can buy it,—I can buy it,—anyone can buy it who is willing to pay the price for it, and the price is usually hard work intelligently and tactfully applied.

The first thing to do when you decide that you want to get ahead is to take stock of your opportunities. Is there any bigger work in the place in which you are? Will you gain more if you stay there at a small salary and work up, or if you go into another position at a larger salary and stay placed? Do not let fear of dullness keep you from peering ahead, but take everything into consideration before you change positions. If your firm has not business enough, try to make more business for it. Study other lines and new branches and see how they will fit into your work. Our motto for success is, "If you want to make a real success, stay where you are and think."

There is a story of a young stenographer who was earning sixteen dollars a week in a real estate company. She had an offer of a position in a larger firm which would give her eighteen dollars. It seemed to her that she had better stay where she was and see if she could advance rather than go into a large firm. She was an accurate stenographer and a rapid typist. The firm happened to be getting some real estate just outside the city, and one of the men in charge daily dictated letters concerning this tract of land. These letters seemed to her uninteresting. She took a trolley ride to the tract of land, saw its promising points, wrote it up herself from the point of view of a possible customer, and showed her sales letter to her superior. He immediately recognized that it was good, and the final result of her effort was that she became the manager of the advertising department of the firm, with an office of her own.

Whatever your business may be, a little thinking will show you the way to step ahead. If you need education the state is willing and ready to give it to you, provided you will make the necessary effort. If you are in industry you may need knowledge of mathematics or electricity to help you ahead. If you are in business you may need knowledge of accounting or advertising. If you are a teacher you may need educational psychology or college English. If you are a homemaker you will need a practical understanding of the food and clothing problem and household budget making. It may be that a foreign language will help you in your business, particularly if you are employed by a firm which is engaged in South American or European trade. Take stock of yourself, then decide what you are fitted to do and never stop trying until you have reached the highest point you can in your business or profession.

Try to keep a clear head and do not set property rights above human rights. Remember that a large salary, while extremely useful, is not the only expression of success, and that work well done and service to the community and to your employer is the largest kind of success.

JAMES A. MOYER, Director.

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit.

The kidneys are the most overworked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and crystallizes look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into deadly Bright's Disease.

One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism.

Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication of trouble go after the cause at once. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL FLEMING OIL CAPSULES, imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause they should not, your money will be refunded. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. Name other is genuine. In sealed boxes three sizes.

that moth balls or other strong repellents placed among hills of cucumbers or squashes will serve to keep insects away due to the repellent odor. Rose bugs are a hard proposition in the garden but a good strong sweetened arsenical spray will put them out of business. Use one pound of lead arsenate paste to three gallons of water and sweeten with a little molasses. Some form of arsenate such as arsenate of lead and some fungicide such as Bordeaux mixture and a 40 per cent nicotine sulphate as "Black Leaf 40" are the only spray materials needed by the average home gardener. Arsenate of lead and Bordeaux are often combined in a convenient package form. It is undoubtedly more convenient to use one of the commercial Bordeaux-lead combinations than to try to make them at home when needed in only small quantities although they are much more expensive. Use three times as strong as recommended. Bordeaux-lead combinations will prevent blights on potatoes, cucumbers and melons and kill all leaf eating insects such as potato bugs, flea beetles and most caterpillars. "Black Leaf 40" kills by contact all sucking insects, the most common of which are the plant lice or aphids. It may be safely and effectively used with Bordeaux-lead combinations. An ounce of prevention in the garden at this time is worth a pound of spray material applied a month later. If you want to buy, sell or exchange anything try a Sun want adv.

AWAITING RECOGNITION ORDERS IN SIBERIA

VLADIVOSTOK, Monday, June 19 (By the Associated Press).—Allied and American military and civil authorities here still are awaiting instructions from their governments as to their attitude towards the All-Russian government headed by Admiral Kolchak.

Differences in the policy of the American and the Japanese military authorities here toward attacking bands has resulted in a suggestion that some authority other than a military representative take the initiative to co-ordinate the various policies.

One of the differences noted is the disposition of the American forces, who are guarding vital points on the railroads, as tunnels and bridges, to declare armed bands to be outlawed as Bolsheviks only after such forces actually have attacked the guarded railroad points, while the Japanese have been accustomed to proceed against the Bolsheviks whenever they believed attacks were contemplated.

Only the United States, Japan and

China of the outside powers have troops in Siberia available for duty. Plans for reconstruction of railroads with the assistance of the allied powers have been completed by the international railroad board. Officials of the Kolchak government have let it be known that it is their understanding that further assistance cannot be rendered by the Americans without definite instructions from the United States government.

Relations between the American and Russian officials. It is generally remarked, are better now than at any time since the American representatives arrived in Siberia, although agitators are still continuing their anti-American propaganda campaign.

One of the most recent examples is the action condemning the attitude of the American command toward factional fighting in the maritime districts, adopted on June 10 by the Vladivostok Stock Exchange. These resolutions were said to have been forced through by alleged pro-German merchants. At the same time thanks were expressed to the Japanese command for its active efforts on behalf of the Kolchak government.

SELL ARMY FOOD AT COST IN BOSTON

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Representative Fitzgerald informed Mayor Peters by telegraph yesterday that he would be one of a group of men, the others to be obtained by the mayor, to purchase and resell to the public at cost, the great stores of food products which are to be auctioned by the war department in Boston, the latter part of this week.

Mr. Fitzgerald says 1,200,000 pounds of bacon in 12-pound cans, 50,000 pounds of roast beef in 10-pound cans, 90,000 pounds of corn in 6-pound cans and 100,000 pounds of corned beef in 2-pound cans are to be sold in Boston. He believes the general public should secure the advantage of the low prices which he thinks these products will bring at auction.

U. S. SOLDIERS WIN IN IRISH TRACK MEET

DUBLIN, Wednesday, June 15.—Two American soldier athletes, on leave in Ireland, won places today in the Irish track and field championship.

Private Patrick Ryan, holder of the world's hammer throw record, took that event with a throw of 169 feet. Lieut. William McCormick of Cornell university was second in both the hammer throw and the stone throw, coming within eight inches of the record in the latter event.

MOTION TO EXEMPT BEER AND WINE TABLED

WASHINGTON, June 19.—A motion by Senator Phelan, democrat, California, to add a rider to the agricultural appropriation bill proposing exemption of beer and wine from war-time prohibition was tabled by the senate late yesterday, 55 to 11.

There was no discussion of the proposal which was offered as an amendment to the prohibition enforcement bill, and consideration of it went over by consent.

The committee has eliminated that section of the bill proposing appointment of a prohibition commissioner to have general charge of enforcement of the law, and approved an amendment turning this work over to the commissioner of internal revenue.

Senator Phelan proposed suspension of senate rules barring his rider, which requires a two-thirds majority. He spoke briefly in support of limiting the war-time prohibition act to distilled spirits only, but no discussion came from prohibition advocates.

When Senator Phelan concluded, Senator Gronna, republican, of North Dakota, in charge of the agricultural appropriations bill, moved to table Senator Phelan's motion, cutting off further debate.

On the Phelan motion, senators voting in its support were: Republicans, Calder, Edge, France, Knox, La Follette and Wadsworth, total 6; democrats, King, Phelan, Reed, Thomas and Williams, total 5.

Senator McLean, republican, of Connecticut, also voted against tabling the motion, but later withdrew his vote because of a pair.

"We" When Peace is Signed

OTTAWA, Ont., June 19.—The senate late yesterday adopted an amendment to the prohibition bill which makes the prohibition orders in council effective only until peace is signed instead of for one year after that date.

PROPOSALS FOR PUBLIC BATH HOUSE

Separate sealed proposals will be received from local contractors only, at the office of the Board of Park Commissioners at City Hall, on Saturday, June 22, 1919, at 12 m. o'clock for the construction of a public bath house on the boulevard at the riverbank about midway between Varnum Avenue and Dunbar Avenue, in accordance with plans and specifications furnished by Henry L. Bourke, Architect.

This work will be let in two (2) separate contracts as follows:
1.—General Contract Work.
2.—Plumbing.

Proposals will be made on the blank form provided with the specifications and no bid will be accepted if presented in any other form.
Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check for a per cent of the price mentioned in the proposal. Said check to be made payable to the City Treasurer of the City of Lowell, and to be appropriated by said city for and to its own use as liquidated damages, and not as a penalty, should the successful bidder refuse or fail to sign the contract within ten days after being notified that said contract is ready for signatures.

Each contractor must be prepared to give bond to the amount of 25 per cent of the contract price, conditioned on the satisfactory execution of the contract as required by plans and specifications.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the Board of Park Commissioners and at the office of the Architect.

The Board of Park Commissioners reserves the right to reject any or all proposals, or to accept the proposal which seems to be the best interests of the City of Lowell.

more favorably inclined toward the treaty than at first, while the clericals and the democrats of the left wing are reported to be swinging in the same direction. One report from Berlin represents the people of the capital as resigned to the future, desiring only to see the treaty signed and the suspense ended.

British Grand Fleet Ready

In the meantime, however, rumors of an exciting nature are printed in London newspapers, it being said that the British grand fleet is prepared to sail on short notice for German waters and that British dirigibles already are near the German coast, if not over German soil.

Dirigible Held For Duty

The dirigible R-34 which the British were intending to send out on a transatlantic voyage this week, is said by one report to be over the Baltic armed with bombs and machine guns, and ready for action. Her sister craft, the R-33, is reported to have left last night on a cruise which will include the Kiel canal. One thing definitely known is that the R-34 will not start on her projected trip for America until the German situation clears.

Quell Riots at Weimar

The attempt of Spartacist and Communist adherents to stir up riotous conditions at Weimar seems to have been definitely defeated, as no disorders there have been reported since Wednesday morning's futile attempt to break into the castle where the cabinet members are quartered.

Demonstrations by French sailors at

Brest on Tuesday night and Wednesday seem to have died down, although a recrudescence of the trouble was feared there, according to last reports.

MOVEMENT IN FAVOR OF SIGNING

BERLIN, Wednesday, June 19. (By the Associated Press).—A pronounced movement in the ranks of the majority members of the assembly at Weimar in favor of signing the treaty, is reported in a despatch received here late tonight. Sentiment among the clericals and left wing democrats under the leadership of Baron von Richthofen, is also reported to be crystallizing in that direction.

GERMANS ANGRY OVER ATTACK

WEIMAR, Wednesday, June 19. (By the Associated Press).—The special train bringing Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau and his colleagues from Versailles, reached Weimar and was run into a siding shortly after midnight this morning. Government troops which were arriving to strengthen the city's protection, were marching through the dark streets to their quarters when the train rolled in. Suddenly the silence was broken by the clatter of machine guns. The origin of the firing was not known until it was learned that Spartacist and Communist prisoners had attacked the castle where members of the government were quartered.

Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau remained on board his train until after breakfast. The delegation was grimly angry at the hostile attack made upon it at Versailles, in which a considerable number, instead of three, as at first reported, were more or less seriously injured. The Italian and French officers who accompanied the German delegation as far as Cologne, were profuse in their apologies for the incident, and said the police at Versailles had been unreliable since the strike, but the German delegates suspected the attack to have been deliberately planned.

BERLIN PEOPLE CRY SIGN AND END AGONY

BERLIN, Wednesday, June 19. (By the Associated Press).—"Sign the treaty and be through with the agony" is the gist of the comment of the people of Berlin today.

After the wrath provoked by the moral indictment contained in the covering note of the allied answer, the residents of Berlin seemed to have resigned themselves to the inevitable. "Rather the end with terror, than terror without end," was the way one small merchant put it today.

FOR REGULATION OF RAILWAYS

PARIS, Wednesday, June 19. (By the Associated Press).—The conference

commission on harbors and water ways is endeavoring to arrange for the regulation of railways connecting Fiume and Trieste with Vienna, so that conditions will be satisfactory to Italy, Jugo-Slavia and Czechoslovakia. Some agreement is desirable before the Austrian treaty is completed, but the indications are that the matter will be deferred for decision by the League of Nations.

AMERICAN DELEGATES ARE OPTIMISTIC

PARIS, June 19.—While admitting that it has little direct or comprehensive information regarding the German attitude towards the signing of the peace treaty, the American delegation to the peace conference is optimistic in its view of the situation. In common with peace conference circles generally, the delegates are not disturbed by the newspaper reports from Germany received here of an unfriendly nature toward the revision terms.

LOWELL ELKS SCAMPER FOR TYNGSBORO

There was scampering galore around the lodge stronghold of the Lowell Elks in Middle street this noon and there was a nervous patter of Elk feet as the "Bills" of Lodge 57 awaited the signal which was to send them on their annual gambol to the forested wilder of the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro.

Several hundred members of Lowell lodge were on hand to take part in the 1919 outdoor good time and from 11.30 right up to 1 o'clock automobiles were whizzing away from the club building. Despite his name, "Bill" Bay State was not present to assist in the festivities and in his absence other members of the lodge saw to it that there were plenty of machines available for transportation. Samuel Scott was in charge of transportation, and once more he "went his" with his brother disporters for the efficient manner in which he carried out his part of the day's contract.

The various cars formed a series of parades from Middle street to Tyngs-boro, and many of them were adorned with Stars and Stripes, true to Elk-dom's patriotic traditions. Some of the cars didn't report to the Elk headquarters but picked up their passengers from various places down town and whizzed away, eager to arrive on the scene of activity.

Upon the arrival at Martin Luther grounds a buffet luncheon, prepared by Caterer M. A. Lydon, was first given enthusiastically consideration, and then followed a happy afternoon un-marred by formality. Commissioner
"Jimmy" Donnelly was on hand to see that Harry Lauder's good work was kept fresh in the memories of the pic-nickers, and Ray Lynch was right on the job looking after the sporting end of the affair. Baseball, track and other Walter Camp stunts kept the members busy. A happy, informal affair it was and full of the Elk spirit of fun and cheer every minute. Edward Turnbull was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

GERMAN DELEGATES TO REJECT TERMS

BERLIN, Wednesday, June 18. (By the Associated Press)—The German peace delegation is one in backing up Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau in his opposition to signing the peace conditions according to the correspondents of Berlin newspapers at Weimar.

A memorial prepared by the delegates on the train from Versailles demands rejection of the terms. The "hostile" tenor of the reply, it is argued in the memorial, simplifies such action and, it is said, unless Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau succeeds in persuading the cabinet to his view, he and the entire delegation will withdraw and he will resign from the cabinet as foreign minister.

NATURALIZATION COURT
Between 30 and 40 men filed their applications with Clerk Dillingham of the superior court for first naturalization papers at the court house in Gor-between the hours of 2 and 4 he gave out second papers to between 15 and 20 applicants. Today was the last naturalization session to be held in this city for some time.

Local Committee Believes
Report of Col. Shunk
Most Unfair

As the result of action at a board of trade committee meeting on the Merrimack river waterway project, held this morning at the board of trade rooms, the three congressmen from the Merrimack river section of Massachusetts, Messrs. Rogers, Phelan and Lufkin, will try to hold conference with Gen. Black, U.S.A., head of the engineers of the war department, and will request him to appoint one of the most skilled engineers in the war department to re-survey the river and submit a report on the cost and advisability of making a ship way of the canal.

This action will of course show the valley's complete repudiation and disapproval of the adverse report turned in to the war department some weeks ago by Col. Shunk of Boston, head of the New England division of the war department's engineering bureau, in which Col. Shunk not only submitted a technical report showing the probable cost of engineering and for labor and materials, but went to the extreme of advising the U. S. government to build a ship way of the canal.

SKEELS MURDER CASE

More Evidence To Support Contention Woman Murdered To Hide Thefts

LAWRENCE, June 18.—Further evidence designed to support the contention of the prosecution that Miss Florence W. Gay of Andover was murdered to conceal thefts of clothing, jewelry and other articles was introduced today at the trial of Mrs. Bessie
M. (Skeels) Lundgren, the nurse who attended Miss Gay in her last illness.
Samuel H. Weiner, a further of this city, testified that Dec. 1, 1917, the defendant, who was then Mrs. Skeels, brought to his store a fur cape which she wanted made over. She said, according to the witness, that the cape had been given her by a "bad patient" who was not expected to live. Miss Gay died on Dec. 13. Weiner said the cape remained in his possession about two months and that an other skin, which Mrs. Skeels brought in at another time, was still at his store. His examination was pronounced by the necessity of sending to the store for his books to verify dates.

Miss Anna I. Ritchie of Boston, who formerly lived at the Gay house, having been employed in 1913 as a nurse for Mrs. Raymond Gay, was questioned as to a conversation she had with Mrs. Skeels during a visit to the house in February, 1918. Witnesses said that Mrs. Skeels had said that Miss Gay was stung and hard to get along with. She said Mrs. Skeels had told of seeing two masked burglars in the house and she had displayed a revolver which she kept in a tin box.

Witness identified some articles alleged to have been stolen by the defendant from the Gay home. She said that she had seen a diamond pin and two diamond rings at the Gay residence. Josiah H. Dealey of Lynn, a lawyer, was questioned about the administration of the estate of Charles W. Gay, father of Miss Florence Gay.
Dr. Harry H. Nevers of Lawrence, who was present at the autopsy on Miss Gay's body, said that he removed the brain and that it was perfectly normal.

Should Strikers Lose Charter, They Would Also For- feit Insurance and Strike Benefits—Lowell Now Has Longest Tie-Up in State's History—Strike Spreading to Other Sections

According to a statement said to have been made last night at Atlantic City by William D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, John H. Reardon, general executive board member, who addressed the striking Lowell car men Tuesday night and ordered them back to work again, has been ordered to this city to take away the charter of the local union. It is understood also that Mr. Reardon has been authorized to inform all other local unions in the Bay State system that charters will be revoked immediately in case of broken agreements.

When questioned this forenoon regarding this serious development,
Thomas J. Powers, president of Lowell
Local 230, declined to give out a statement. The Lowell carmen met in regular session at 10 o'clock, but no report was forthcoming.

Belief that the strike is assuming grave proportions and is threatening to spread over the entire system to the point of causing a general tie-up and absolute abandonment of Bay State Street Railway traffic was further strengthened this morning when the conductors and motormen of Lawrence voted to strike in sympathy with the Lowell men, the walk-out to take effect on the completion of the last trips tonight. No Bay State cars now are being operated in Lowell or Woburn and about 300 more strikers will be added to the list when service stops in Lawrence. The meeting in Lawrence last night, at which delegates from 16 local unions were present, forecasted the strike vote in the down-river city today and also gave further impetus to the strong under-current of feeling that a general strike, tying up the entire system, would be in effect before the end of the week.

The revoking of a local charter is a serious development from the standpoint of the carmen, for it means the loss of death and insurance benefits which have a maximum of $500 and men old in the service would feel the loss keenly. Charter annulment also means the severing of all connections with the international body and practically makes a local organization an outlaw group.

This is the fourth day of the strike locally and people are continuing to get about as best they can. A system of finney transportation is attempting to accommodate the crowds and practically every section of the city is being partially covered. The Bay State officials had nothing to give out this morning, saying the situation remained unchanged. Fred Cummings, publicity man for the company, was in Lowell last night until 11 o'clock, when he went to Lawrence. He is believed to be in Boston today.

Business has suffered appreciably for the past four days as only comparatively few people are making an attempt to get downtown. Mills, shops, and stores are looking after the transportation of their help, several factories having pressed trucks and barges into commission to carry their employees to and from work.

As far as can be learned the local situation constitutes the longest strike, wherein not a car was operated, in the history of the commonwealth. The Boston Elevated strike was of longer duration than the length of the local tie-up to date, but during the former some cars were operated. Lawrence was without car service a short while ago for two days, but service was resumed when the question at issue was given over to the board of arbitration.

For absolute stagnation the Lowell strike seems to be without precedent.

MAYOR THOMPSON MAY APPEAL TO GOVERNOR

Asked today if he had made a personal appeal to the governor relative to a settlement of the street railway strike, Mayor Thompson said:

"I am in hopes it will not be necessary to appeal to the governor and I do not think there will be any necessity for it. If the strike should continue indefinitely it would probably be necessary to take other than local means for prevention and in that event I might appeal to the governor, but I would not do it except as a last resort.

"I am in hopes this trouble here can be kept in the status of being a localized issue. Should the strike not spread extensively this would obtain. I am frank in saying I shall not make personal appeal to Gov.
Coolidge to take executive action in our carmen's strike here until I am convinced it is the last remedy remaining. It will be my last resort."

Asked to describe his experience with the state board of arbitration so far,
the mayor said:

"It is incorrect to say I requested the state arbitration board to help us out here in Lowell. I did not of my own volition request it to take action, but under the state law I have to notify the state board of arbitration that a strike exists.

"I did this formally and next had a telephone call from the office of the board in Boston. The person on the other end of the line asked me some of the most foolish questions I can

LABOR TO DISREGARD INJUNCTION DECREES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 18.—

The American Federation of Labor, in a resolution adopted at its convention here today, condemning what was declared to be "usurpations by the judiciary" of the government's legislative and executive powers, recommended that organized labor should disregard injunction decrees of courts on the ground that such decrees, violate rights guaranteed under the constitution.

A resolution favoring the restriction of immigration during the reconstruction period was also adopted.
In a debate continuing longer than two hours the radical element bitterly assailed the idea, while the conservatives, led by Secretary Frank Morris-son, insisted it was necessary as a means of protecting American labor from "exploitation by vested interests."

FINANCE REPORT FOR MONTH OF MAY

The city finance report for the month of May made its appearance today. In the itemized account of expenditures are a number of interesting items. Patrolman John J. Donovan, recently discharged from the army, received $1223.30 as the difference in wages paid him by the police department and the government during his term of service. Under general expenses come varying amounts paid to local restaurants and lunch rooms for feeding soldiers and sailors here on April 15. The sum of $1054.55 was paid to various local firms for construction work on the isolation hospital. Everett A. Tarbox was given $320 in partial payment for auditing the city's books. Fred A. Potter was given $4.50 as the difference in his wages as a member of the police department and as a member of the United States army.

P.O. HELP SINGS HO! FOR JULY FIRST

There's one class of men who will be glad to see July 1 come along. The sooner the better, they say. They are the clerks and carriers at the Lowell postoffice, who are to receive a $100 increase in salary from their Uncle
Samuel beginning this eventful day.
This makes the increase for the men during the last year $200.

Last July 1 the men in the postoffice department all over the country received an increase of $200 and the $100 increase in addition this year is also effective throughout the United States. Postmaster Meahan said today that other officials in the postoffice apart from carriers and clerks will receive a proportionate increase beginning July 1.

ADMITS MURDER OF CHAPMAN

Harry Baker Said To Have Confessed That He Committed Crime

District Attorney Estey Gives Out Statement at Worcester

WORCESTER, June 18.—Harry Baker who with his wife was arrested yesterday in Bangor as a suspect in the murder case of Dwight P. Chapman in Westboro, has confessed that he committed the crime, according to District Attorney Edward T. Estey.
During the booking process at the jail, Mrs. Baker showed much more nervous than her husband. He broke down completely and wept bitterly, but she maintained a perfect calm, whispered words of encouragement into his ear, kissed him and fed him from a tray on which breakfast was served them by Mrs. Albert F. Richardson, wife of Sheriff Richardson. Finger prints of Baker and his wife were taken before they were locked up.

SENATE DEBATE ON THE LEAGUE

Sen. Thomas Opposes Adoption of Knox Resolution To Cut League From Treaty

Would Be Interpreted as Effort To Dictate to Peace Conference

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Adoption of the Knox resolution regarding the League of Nations and the peace treaty would be interpreted as an uncalled for effort by the senate to dictate to the peace conference, Senator Thomas, democrat, Colorado, said today in opposing the measure. The Colorado senator declared that the proposal that the senate declare itself now against accepting the league as interwoven with the peace terms was improper and unwise.

Before Senator Thomas spoke, Senator Spencer, republican, of Missouri, who had not previously indicated his views regarding the League of Nations, introduced a resolution proposing that the senate declare that under any league plan adopted application of the Monroe Doctrine must be reserved entirely for national determination.

The resolution would declare the Monroe Doctrine "an essential national policy" and that "the necessity and extent of its application and enforcement are matters to be determined alone by the United States."
The tariff, immigration and like internal questions were, Senator Spencer declared, "matters to be determined entirely by the country in which they arise and under no circumstances questions for settlement under the League of Nations."

"The resolution would declare also that the United States cannot bind itself in advance to either make war in the future or to send its army and navy into other lands for purposes of control." The resolution went over without action.

Heated Partisan Clash

Replying to Senator Knox's charge that the democrats had made the league a partisan issue, Senator Thomas declared that only opponents of the League of Nations had been given places on the committee on Foreign Affairs. In this statement, he was supported by Senator Williams of Mississippi and Pomeroy of Ohio and was replied to by Senators Moses of New Hampshire and McCormick of Illinois.
The partisan clash became so heated that the vice president repeatedly admonished senators against breaking the rules.

TO ENLARGE DRACUT WATER DISTRICT

An important meeting of the water district of Dracut will be held at Grange hall, Centre village, tomorrow evening for the purpose of taking action on the plan proposed by the water commissioners, that of enlarging the district. This matter was brought about at the request of the residents in the vicinity of the town farm in the centre village, who are just outside of the district and therefore cannot be supplied with town water. It was stated today that recently five new houses were erected in that district, near the city of Lowell ledge and that plans are under way for the erection of some 20 others. Then again the residents of the Navy Yard district, who are just outside the boundary line of the water district are also desirous of securing water facilities and that will also be brought to the attention of the commissioners and the members of the water district. The district was empowered some time ago by the legislature to take in extra territory if the voters so decided and it is believed that everything will be settled at tomorrow evening's meeting.

Deeply Affected by Scenes of Terrible Destruction in Battle Cities

BRUSSELS, Wednesday, June 18.—
(By the Associated Press).—President and Mrs. Wilson with King Albert and Queen Elizabeth as their guides, today saw the devastation visited upon Belgium by the Germans. The first part of their visit deeply affected not only Mr. Wilson but those accompaning him. The second phase was of an entirely different character.
In the forenoon almost no residents were encountered. In the afternoon the appearance of the president at Ypres, Ostend, Zebrugge and, finally, Brussels was made the occasion of demonstrations that might have been accorded a conquering hero. With the president and Mrs. Wilson were Miss

DIRIGIBLE'S TRIP IS POSTPONED

Flight of British Airplane Delayed Until Germany
Acts on Treaty

British Grand Fleet Again Placed on War Footing—
Other Naval Preparations

LONDON, June 18.—The flight of the British dirigible R-34 to America is definitely postponed until Germany decides what she intends to do regarding the peace terms.

"Should Germany refuse to sign, according to one officer, the flight of the R-34 will be eastward instead of westward."

The airships which are now engaged in a demonstrative flight over Germany will return to their bases tonight and remain there until the German decision is announced.

"Bombs and machine guns were unnecessary in the present flight," said the officer. "Should they have to go eastward again, however, these things may be needed."

The foregoing appears to dispose of reports in London last night that the R-33 and R-34 were armed for their eastward cruise.

BRITISH NAVY ON WAR FOOTING

LONDON, Thursday, June 19.— Morning newspapers feature British naval and other preparations in the event of Germany refusing to sign the treaty of peace and print under big headlines several unofficial reports which were current during the night.

The grand fleet has again been placed on a war footing, it is reported, and ready to sail for German waters at a moment's notice. It is also stated that the dirigible R-34 has been disguised from her transatlantic trip, equipped with bombs and machine guns and has been sent or is going to the Baltic, while her companion aircraft, the R-33, similarly equipped, left Wednesday night for a cruise which will include the Kiel canal.

A telegram from Copenhagen reports the arrival there of a dozen British cruisers and several destroyers prepared to enforce the blockade.

According to some reports, the R-34, which is now over the Baltic, is neither armed nor loaded with bombs, but is undergoing a final trial preparatory to her Atlantic voyage. The Daily Sketch says the R-31 was over Berlin at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

AERIAL MAIL SERVICE

FREE GIRLS FROM JAIL

Judge Finds Them Innocent of Flirting—Advises Them To Sue Detective

NEW YORK, June 18.—Two young women who had spent four days in jail as a result of having talked to two army lieutenants on the street, were exonerated by Judge Otto S. Rosalsky in general sessions, who urged them to bring suits for damages against the detective upon whose testimony they were convicted. A detective accused the girls of having "flirted" with the lieutenants.

"The magistrate who convicted those girls should be rebuked," Judge Rosalsky said, after scathingly denouncing the detective.

INJURED IN RUNAWAY

Auto Crashes Into Baker's Wagon and Horse Rums Away—Driver Injured

A runaway, in which one man was injured and the horse and wagon wound up against a telegraph pole occurred at 7 o'clock this morning when a baker's wagon driven by S. Waxberg, 163 Chelmsford street, the property of A. Grossman, was struck by an automobile at Lowell and Chelmsford street.

The horse had stopped to drink at the time of the accident and the shock of the collision threw Waxberg to the ground, severely injuring his right arm. The horse started on a wild run up Smith street, the wagon finally colliding with a telegraph pole near the end of the street, smashing the front end of the cart. The horse was uninjured and was taken back to Mr. Grossman's establishment at 111 Howard street.

PERSHING THANKS PARIS

PARIS, Wednesday, June 18.—General John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American Expeditionary Forces, has written a letter to M. men on charges of assault on a woman have themselves and not create a disturbance and interfering with a woman's tranquility.

Sergeant Frawley testified that Alexander Kierker, the first to be arrested, was the leader of one of the opposing factions, and that he was the one who struck him on the wrist with a weapon. Kierker, charged with assault on a woman, was found guilty and sentenced to 30 days in jail. He appealed. In the meantime, the prisoner was taken to the jail and a call sent in for the patrol.

According to the testimony of Sergeant Frawley and Detective Kierker, they had been keeping an eye on the group that Alexander made a kick, directed at the woman, and that he was the one who struck him on the wrist with a weapon. The two factions, Kierker and Alexander, went after Alexander, he said, and some people approached and arrested him in order to save the woman. They spoke to the woman and she from possible injury.

He also requested the court to have a delegation of witnesses were called for the defense, and these testified that Speers had not assaulted Alexander Kierker. According to their story, it was the "non-Greeks" who started the rumpus and who were the chief aggressors. They also claimed that the officers used undue force in making the arrests.

The court was inclined to impose a fine of $100 on Speers, but at the suggestion of Sergeant Frawley, who stated that he did not bear any ill feeling against the man, the fine was changed to $50.

Mary Carroll was found guilty of assault on her sister, Grace Blanchard, and was ordered to pay a fine of $50. For drunkenness, John McDonough was given a suspended sentence of two months in jail. In testifying in his own defense, John declared emphatically that he had never done anything out of the way in the 40 and more years he has been in the city.

Three men were found guilty of failing to sound a signal at Gorham and Union streets, while passing by in machines one night last week, and were assessed $2 each. The names given by the trio were Roger W. Foster, Murdock McKinnon and Charles Blinks.

Private John B. There were many friends and acquaintances present, including Private Edward Scullion of the 101st Supply Co. In the course of the evening the young soldier received a handsome set of gold cuff links from his aunt. Private Van Note gave a recital of his overseas experiences and this proved most interesting.

DEATHS

CARROLL—Mrs. Bridget R. Carroll, mother of Justice James B. Carroll, of the supreme judicial court, died yesterday at the home of her son, 234 Pearl street, Springfield, Mass., aged 98 years. Mrs. Carroll was born in Ireland, but came to this country a young woman and lived in Lowell for many years. She moved to Springfield, however, when the future justice was very young. She is survived only by Justice Carroll.

Goss—Joseph Herbert Goss, formerly of Lowell, died yesterday at his home in Jersey City, N. J. He leaves besides his wife, two sons, Elton Goss and Kenneth Clyde, all of Jersey City; his uncle, Charles F. Goss of Dunstable, and two cousins, Charles E. Goss of Dunstable and Mrs. Walter Powers of Lowell.

HASKELL—Fred U. Haskell died last night at his home, 117 Bridge street, aged 58 years, 6 months and 8 days. He had been in the employ of O. F. Reynolds a number of years and was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends. He leaves his wife, Aislinn E. Haskell.

FORD—Mrs. Della A. Ford, aged 60 years, died last night at her home, 253 North street. She is survived by two brothers, Joseph of this city and John of Milford, N. H.; three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Poin of this city, a sister in England and a sister in Ireland. The body was removed to the sugar-filled wafers which they supported.

There was no question about the complete success of Nettie's discovery, as the fragrance of the fresh cups of tea which she served added to the luscious repast.

CROWLEY—Mrs. Mary A. Crowley died this morning at her home, No. 421 Westford street, after a brief illness. She is survived in her immediate family by one sister, Miss Esther V. Green, three nieces, Miss Esther M. Green, Mrs. John D. O'Donnell and Miss Mary E. Deehan, besides several other nieces and nephews.

FUNERAL NOTICES

CARROLL—Bridget R. Carroll, mother of Justice James B. Carroll, of the supreme judicial court, died yesterday at the home of her son, 234 Pearl street, Springfield, Mass., aged 98 years. Mrs. Carroll formerly lived in Lowell. Funeral at Springfield cathedral Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Burial at Springfield.

FURTIN—The funeral of Eva Furtin will take place on Friday morning at 9 o'clock from the home of her parents, William E. and Mary Furtin, 27 Pleasant street. At 9 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at the immaculate Conception church. Burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery.

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.

In 1855 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form.

In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product HORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

Lessons in Germany's Military Aggressive and Russia's Red Rule Emphasized

Says Destruction of Germany's War Power Best Guarantee of World Peace

CAMBRIDGE, June 19. Lessons for America in Germany's military aggression following years of effort toward world peace and in Russia's Bolshevik rule were emphasized in an address today by United States Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, at the commencement exercises of Harvard university.

WOMEN SHAVE UNKNOWNLY

When you only remove hair from the surface of the skin the result is the same as shaving. The only common-sense way to remove hair is to attack it under the skin. DeMiracle, the original sanitary liquid, does this by absorption. Only genuine DeMiracle has a money-back guarantee in each package. At toilet counters in 60c, $1 and $3 sizes, or by mail from us in plain wrapper on receipt of price. FREE book mailed in plain sealed envelope on request. best guarantee of world peace. Misery wrought by Bolshevism in Russia, he asserted, proves that reforms must come slowly, by evolution, and that present conditions may be endangered by vainly striving for a glittering impossibility.

No Direct Reference to League No direct reference was made by Mr. Lodge to the peace treaty or the League of Nations, but in discussing peace efforts and Germany's course, he said:

"At the close of the last century there was a general belief that serious wars would not come again. Some doubted, and for their skepticism were called 'jingoists,' 'war lovers' and 'persecutors.'"

"But almost everyone felt sure that if war should again break upon us, horrors would be reduced to the lowest point and that by the convention of the League of Nations, was once more exhibited in all its weakness."

"It is a melancholy reflection that the best assurance of the future peace of the world lies in the destruction of the German war power, which is worth all it cost."

"Once again comes the harsh lesson that all the advances of men in morals and in altruism, in charity and gentler manners and purer laws, all that really remain with us, came slowly, never in a moment."

Experience of the past, Senator Lodge declared, must be a guide to future action.

Have Vision and Dream Dreams "I fervently hope," he said, "that you will have visions and dream dreams, but do not forget that having visions is one thing while being a visionary, especially a visionary whose visions and ideals are stage properties, is quite another."

What troubles me most about the books and articles and speeches by our most advanced thinkers setting forth new panaceas and systems for all the evils, is that they are generally so very

of Geneva and The Hague, the sufferings and cruelties of past wars would be largely eliminated.

Wholesale Atrocities "Suddenly the great war came. Germany, entered deliberately upon a course of savage cruelty worse than any ever imagined because it was carefully organized. The world had known barbarism before but never had anything so often upon men comparable to the scientific wholesale atrocities carried on by Germany by which not merely individuals but entire communities were subjected to the most hideous sufferings and the most utter ruin which highly trained minds entirely destitute of humanity could devise."

Treaties Caught in Flame of War "As for treaties and laws, they went in the fire of the flames of war as quickly as the dry leaves of autumn when a spark falls among them."

"The beautiful scheme of making mankind suddenly virtuous by a statute or a written convention, was once more exhibited in all its weakness."

"It is a melancholy reflection that the best assurance of the future peace of the world lies in the destruction of the German war power, which is worth all it cost."

"Once again comes the harsh lesson that all the advances of men in morals and in altruism, in charity and gentler manners and purer laws, all that really remain with us, came slowly, never in a moment."

SUFFRAGISTS WIN THE FIRST SKIRMISH

BOSTON, June 19.—The suffragists yesterday won the first skirmish in the coming fight over the question of ratification by Massachusetts of the amendment to the federal constitution to extend the privileges of the ballot to women. The legislative committee on federal relations by a vote of 9 to 1, reported in favor of ratification.

Later in the day Senator Weston of Newton gave notice that he will today introduce as a substitute for the committee report a resolution to refer the question of ratification to the men and women of the state by ballot at the next state election.

Tells Dyspeptics What To Eat

Chronio "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things. Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acids and prevent the formation of gas or sourness by the use of a little Bismarck Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bismarck Magnesia, which you can get from any drug store, and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no irritating action on the stomach and is not a laxative. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five-grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the acid digests naturally and healthily without need of potent pills or artificial digestants.

Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

A Wonderful Medicine for Women.

THOUSANDS of women owe their beauty of face and form—their strength and vitality—their freedom from lifelong ill-health—to RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.

THOUSANDS of others are winning back their health and strength by taking RED PILLS.

WHY? Because RED PILLS are an infallible remedy for Anaemia and Poor Blood.

ANAEMIA is responsible for most of the Headaches, Backaches, Paleness, Thinness, Weakness, Nervousness, Indigestion and Sleeplessness with which so many women suffer.

RED PILLS conquer Anaemia; and give you the pure red blood needed to nourish mind and body.

MRS. NAPOLEON LARIVEE, 568 East Street, Holyoke, Mass., has been suffering for quite a few years from the change of life, and was indeed a very miserable woman before she started to take RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. Her life was becoming unendurable for she was constantly troubled with poor digestion, palpitation of the heart, headaches and backaches, besides being in an excessive state of general weakness. She took RED PILLS she was persevering, and took them faithfully for over a year, and was rewarded by recovering her good health and being relieved of the different symptoms which are usually the lot of women who do not take proper care of themselves while going through the change of life, which is such a difficult period in the life of a woman.

CAUTION.—The formula of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women was first discovered in Paris, in the year of 1870, by a famous French doctor and they have been widely used ever since. To avoid imitations or substitutions, insist on the signature "Cie Chimique Franco-Americaine". In boxes only, 50 cents, or six boxes for $2.50

PARIS, Wednesday, June 18.—The regiment of picked men from the American Third Army which was organized to act as General Pershing's body guard on his projected visits to London and Brussels has arrived here from Coblenz and will visit with the French units at the opening of the Pershing stadium on Sunday. The regiment is composed of 3000 men chosen from all the divisions of the Third Army.

The list of the French entries for the inter-allied games was issued today. It is headed by Georges Carpentier of the French aviation corps, heavyweight champion boxer of Europe. France will be represented in every event on the program with the exception of cricket, Vermeulen, holder of the world's record for the 10 mile run, leads the track men.

The Italian sports delegation has announced that the king of Italy will offer a prize in the form of a bronze statue while the Italian minister of war will offer another prize.

EXPLAINS OUTBREAK OF FRENCH SAILORS

BREST, Wednesday, June 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The demonstration of French sailors here last night and today followed the landing of sailors from the Black sea fleet who were involved in the revolt at Odessa. The men were brought to this port on the French warship Justice, and after being landed, were lodged in the naval prison at Fort Pontallier.

At about 8 o'clock last night 200 sailors broke down the gates of barracks No. 2, paraded up Rue Siam, down Rue Dupont, and attempted to rush the naval prison to release their imprisoned comrades. Their attempt failed. Reinforcements for the French infantry on patrol here have arrived and the number of gendarmes has been doubled. The streets are under close guard and at present the city is quiet enough, but another outbreak is expected tonight. The men engaged in the demonstration do not seem to be quite clear in their minds as to the cause of the movement. Some told the Associated Press that the trouble was because of the arrival of the prisoners from the Black sea, while others were under the mistaken impression that they will be ordered to the near east and are protesting.

REGULAR DIVISIONS ARE COMING TO DEVENS

CAMP DEVENS, June 18.—Three regular army divisions and four regiments of United States cavalry are to pass through Camp Devens on their return from the front. According to a letter from the adjutant general of the army, which was addressed to the commanding general here, the 5th, 6th and 7th divisions of the regular army will come to Devens to be broken up and distributed to the regular posts and forts in various parts of the country, and they will be followed by the 2d, 3d, 4th and 15th United States cavalry regiments.

Officers say that, though these divisions are classified as regular army divisions, there are thousands and thousands of the national guard and national army men among them. These men were sent to the regular divisions as replacements. Thousands of New England men are among these divisions. It was stated. It was pointed out that the two infantry brigades of the 74th Division were broken up almost as soon as they landed in France. Nothing definite was given out there, regarding the part at which the three above-named divisions will land, but it is presumed they will land at Boston.

The band of the 2nd Regiment, Coast Artillery Corps, that has been stationed at Fort Williams, Portland, Me. and which has been assigned to duty with the reserve officers' training camp, which opens here Saturday, arrived in camp late yesterday. The band consists of 20 pieces.

PRESSMEN'S UNION OFFICIAL IS SUEED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 18.—Major George L. Berry, international president of the Pressmen's union, was last night served with papers in a suit brought by the Chicago Printing Pressmen's union, asking that he and his associates in the management of the union be restrained from transacting its business and asking for a receiver. The suit is returnable in the United States court in Chattanooga, Tenn., on Saturday.

William L. Haas, the chief complainant, charges that funds of the union to the amount of $157,000 have been misused. Haas, who was accompanied by James L. Bagley when the papers were served, declared that the suit would prevent the international union from carrying out its program of revoking the charter of the Franklin union of New York city of which Bagley is president, or interfering with any other union.

Major Berry said last night that the suit is part of a fight set up by Bagley in an attempt to secure control of the union while he, Berry, was serving in the army in France.

DYNAMO CALLED "ADVERTISING"

Advertising is telling somebody else something about yourself. Modern business capitalizes this idea through the medium of the printed page and it is called commercial advertising. Today more than ever before it is possible to tell the public in a dignified, forceful manner, who, where and what you are. Advertising is a dynamic force working for you at all times. The circulation of the newspaper multiplies the power of your sales arguments. You are not able to talk to 20,000 people at one time effectively as to some special thing you were going to sell but the newspaper can do it for you. To make the most of the science of advertising so far as advertising concerns itself with Lowell, you should advertise in

WATCH THIS CASE

The United States senate committee on privileges and elections has recommended an investigation of the election of Senator Truman H. Newberry, which is contested by Henry Ford. Perhaps the term "whitewashing" would better express the republican intent than investigation. Will the committee have the courtesy to wait until Mr. Ford shall have finished his libel suit against the Chicago Tribune? We rather think not!

In its disposition of this election case the senate has an opportunity as plain as its duty to decide whether large and lavish, if not reprehensible, expenditure of money is enough to give title to a seat in that branch of congress; whether violations of the law—such as are charged—are to be condoned by a body whose function it is to frame laws.

There is no denial that Mr. Newberry's apparent plurality at the polls was obtained by the use of very large sums of money. The law limits the personal expenditures by or on behalf of senatorial candidates to $10,000. It is admitted that there was an outlay of $178,000 in Mr. Newberry's primary campaign alone. There is evidence for the presumption that an even bigger amount was used in furthering his election.

Mr. Ford has a right to demand from the senate a guarantee that a candidate who respects and obeys the law shall not be defeated by an opponent in whose interest the law is ignored and violated. There is, obviously, involved in this contest a more important consideration than Mr. Ford's political fortunes. There is the question whether such brazen attempts to influence elections by unlawful use of money are to be rewarded by membership in "the greatest deliberative body in the world," whether ballots or slush funds are to determine who shall hold public office.

At this moment, the democratic membership in the senate is two fewer than the republican membership. With Mr. Ford in and Mr. Newberry out, the numerical strength of the parties would be equal. If, instead of a majority, the republicans had but a parity of votes in that branch of congress, legislation upon the momentous internal problems that must soon be solved might easily take a very different course than it now seems likely to follow.

The senate's action and decision in this contest will be of the utmost concern to the country, which wants a continuance of the progressive tendencies which characterized the democratic congresses of the last eight years; it will be of importance to Mr. Ford, who furnishes evidence that he was beaten by illegal means and methods; it will be of significance to the senate, which must have some thought of preventing a taint upon its membership.

SAFE LABOR LEADERS

This is a time when conservative leadership is greatly needed, and nowhere is it more necessary than in labor organizations.

In the ranks of labor unions, there is usually a radical element seeking to control the organizations. This feature presented itself at the convention of the American Federation of Labor at Atlantic City, and but for the presence of Samuel Gompers, the convention might have gone on record in favor of the Mooney strike to intimidate the courts and also in favor of a modified form of Bolshevism in a semi-endorsement of the chaotic soviet government in Russia. This, too, was averted through the appeals of the more conservative men in the convention. Had the convention favored either proposition, it would have placed the entire organization in the category of the dangerous elements in this country.

But while President Gompers rules as head of the organization,

none of these wild schemes will meet with favor except from the few radicals who push their way into the unions and secure election as delegates. Many of these men are good talkers and, therefore, able to sway their brother members, particularly when the men of sound judgment are absent. The convention is to be congratulated upon driving the radical element to the rear and upholding respect for law and order in standing firmly against interference with the administration of justice, even in capital cases.

GERMANS BLUFFING

It now comes to light that Germany has been bluffing the allies in appealing for more time, and particularly in defeating the purposes of the treaty in the territories that are to be transferred to Poland. Some six weeks ago, Polish troops entered Germany under the assumption that there would be no obstruction to their transit; but it now appears that they have been held up in sections at different points in order that Germany might establish her authority in upper Silesia so that in spite of anything the allies may say, that province may be dominated by the Huns.

It appears also that the Germans have so arranged matters that if forced to withdraw their troops from upper Silesia, the Poles will find a legacy of great mining industries laid in ruins, a general wreckage similar to the conditions found in Belgium and France after the trail of the Germans. Germany has an army of 130,000 men in upper Silesia doing everything possible to defeat the purpose of the proposed plebiscite. There is little opportunity for a fair expression of preference on the part of the people, so long as the arrangements are under German military control.

THE JITNEY SERVICE

The present car strike will doubtless give an impetus to the jitney service throughout the city. It appears that some extension of the jitney service is necessary to supplement the unsatisfactory car service, even when there is no car strike in progress. The eyes of the public have been opened to the actual situation. They cannot safely rely upon the car service and must be prepared to furnish other means of conveyance whenever that fails. During the three days which the strike has been in progress, the people have depended almost entirely on auto transportation. As this was conducted, it might be supposed that accidents might have occurred; but fortunately, there has been an absence of any serious accident except in one case in which, apparently, the victim was entirely to blame. It seems that there should be some way by which a jitney service can be arranged, that will offer the maximum convenience with the minimum risk of accident. This is a problem on which our municipal council will undoubtedly have to pass in the near future. The public finds that under the circumstances, it cannot safely put all its eggs in one basket.

STORING DYNAMITE

In view of the recent attempts to blow up the residences of government officials, to dynamite street cars and other outrages of the kind, it is absolutely necessary to have more stringent regulations for the sale, use and storage of explosives by contractors and others. The federal authorities have arrested a German on a charge of having dynamite in his possession, supposed to have been stolen from the tool chest of a Boston Golf club and to have been given to the Lawrence car strikers for the purpose of blowing up street cars.

Contractors and others who may have occasion to use dynamite for legitimate purposes should be obliged to keep it where no alien enemy, no I.W.W. or Bolshevik can reach it. There is need for reform in these matters in the interest of public safety.

FOCH READY TO ACT

There has been altogether too much dilly-dallying over the German protests. Marshal Foch has now taken steps to proceed along the only lines that will appeal to Germany—those of force.

Germany will sign no terms to bind her to anything, except under compulsion. That may as well come soon as late. The Germans are playing their old game of false diplomacy, but they have reached the limit. The "jig" is up. Marshal Foch has the final act prepared. It is to march into the heart of Germany—into Berlin, and put an end forever to German bluff unless her delegates place their "John Hancock" on the dotted line.

Although it is generally admitted that the housing problem today stands as one of the community's most vexing problems, we believe landlords have it in their power to alleviate the condition somewhat by a simple antidote of common sense and humanitarian action. There are houses, tenements and flats vacant in the city, but in nine cases out of ten, they are absolutely unobtainable by persons who have children in the family group. This is not a far-fetched or biased statement, but, rather, one of deplorable fact. Landlords without number flatly refuse to "let" if children are to be included in the occupancy, saying that the juvenile element ruins woodwork and, in cases of apartment houses, causes disturbance to other tenants. Bosh! Would the phobic landlords have society abhorring its religious duty of raising future citizens in order the more easily to gain a dwelling? This is not fiction, but a daily occurrence which should be frowned upon before it grows to alarming proportions.

The most encouraging news we have had in months in relation to the prospect that meat prices may fall, comes from Chicago. The packers insist that the reason they are storing 100,000,000 pounds of beef per month is because war time economy in use of meat is still in force. This may be so, but unless the packers have some ostrich traits, why not credit the condition to the fact that a large number of American women are not experiencing much hardship while they wait for meat prices to fall?

That Brooklyn doctor who brings suit for $28,000 against the estate of a woman he says he attended 14 years and never rendered a bill, staggers our credulity. She told him not to send a bill. He would be taken care of in her will, she said. You can collect a bill for services rendered from a live one, perhaps, but putting it up to a cadaver, or even to the estate of deceased is, to say the least, a dubious proposition.

The trustees of the street railway company should show some activity in bringing the strike to an end. The issue involved is one that can be settled better by union officials and the trustees than by the parties in conflict. It is asked whether the company is made reckless as to the duration of the strike because its deficits are to be met by the public.

The Boston Herald makes a feature of a Cambridge girl posing in the almost nude and publishes her picture with the comment that for doing such things, the young lady's New England ancestors would have been hanged. If the act on the part of the young lady were reprehensible, much more so was it for the Herald to publish life like pictures of the objectionable scene.

With the people of Boston confronted by the prospect of dime car fares, it ought to make Henry Ford turn out fivers with renewed enthusiasm. There has certainly never been a time when there were more sound practical reasons why the man with three or more people in his family should purchase a cheap and serviceable automobile, than at present.

The merchants of Lowell are the chief sufferers from the car strike. The suburban industries have managed very effectively to transport their employees to and from work. The merchants cannot send fivers after their customers and hence they suffer most seriously from the suspension of the car service.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

That the Knights of Columbus war work organization is still actively on the job in France, although not so much may be published about it as formerly, is proven by a letter from the mother of Glenn, Richard D. Donaghy, C. S. A. quartermasters department, Transport Peugeot, has received from him written from Bordeaux, France, in the course of this letter he says: "I went to the Knights of Columbus office here in this city to see if the organization had any supplies to spare for the troops we will carry across on our transport now in a few days and also for the members of the crew. I met the general secretary, a Mr. Davis of Salem, Mass. Early the next morning the K. of C. truck was at our pier with large cases of candy, tobacco, cigarettes, soap, writing paper and magazines. They also sent a violin and believing this one would not be enough, this Mr. Davis wired to Paris to get us two more. This was certainly fine treatment and you will realize that the officers of the ship were immensely pleased. I think it is no wonder the organization receives so many compliments and the financial help forthcoming has been so generous."

In connection with the fine welcoming home to Chelmsford boys, Tuesday, and the exercises conducted on North Chelmsford common, a Lowell newspaperman, friend of Col. J. V. J. Herbert of Worcester of the 102d Field Artillery, was able to do the colonel and the people in the large audience, a good turn. The troubles and getting lost on the way over to North Chelmsford from Worcester—the latter the fault of his driver—were responsible for Col. Herbert arriving at the speaker's stand at just about the time the band was starting its last selection of the afternoon. The Lowell reporter who knew and recognized Col. Herbert hurrying towards the stand, tipped off the presiding officer, Selectman Justin L. Moore. The result was that the band was stopped and Mr. Moore very quickly wittily made the kind of an announcement that caused all present in the audience to remain and hear the eloquent Worcester editor deliver his address. It later appeared that most of the people in the audience recognized from reading the program that the "artillery colonel" who signed Chicago on his head and pilloried its pro-German mayor at the St. Louis convention had been invited to speak, and were very anxious to hear Col. Herbert's message. The colonel was invited to remain to partake of supper in company with the Chelmsford boys at the special supper served them in a tent on the common and it was evidently a pleasure for him to once again meet "comrades" with whom he was associated during the war.

A well known local attorney was inquiring what time the barber shops closed on Saturday evening, and I heard his friend, who is one of the city's prominent bankers reply that he did not know, as he always shaved himself and opined that every man should do so. The inquiring attorney also remarked that he always shaved himself. "Then what do you care about barber shops?" asked the banker. "Don't you suppose I ever need a haircut?" said his friend with an outburst of laughter.

One of the prettiest rides that one can take right here in Lowell in the absence of street cars is up the Merrimack river in a canoe or other watercraft starting just above Pawtucket falls and heading in the direction of North Chelmsford. Particularly on the northern shore is the scenery most attractive, especially at this time of the year. The river bank seems to be a mass of green, vibrating at times with soft breezes blowing the leaves of overhanging trees. One can't get a fair view of the beauty of the river bank unless he is actually out in the water. Curving and jelling continually it is a constant source of new interest to the naval wayfarer. They say that one can't appreciate Rome without being in Rome and I truly believe after recent experience that one can't truly appreciate the Merrimack without getting right into midstream and viewing the beauties of the shores from that position. There are several people along the river who rent canoes and boats in the summer and as far as I can see, there has been no attempt at profiteering by these people. Try it out some of these sultry nights if you are at all handy with the oars and paddle.

Fresh Air for Sale!

The last straw that gave the camel rubber knees has again made its appearance. Reports come in that some gas markets are beginning to set the "Free Air" signs in harmony with the cash register. So the optimists who chirp, "Oh, well, they can't charge us for air," are sitting on a place of gum. Some of the gas bazaarers are asking a twin jitney for the use of setting a quartet of rundown tires on their feet again. Tackling a price on air, and you have to wrap it up yourself. One of these days some wise cuckoo will get together with the landlords and form a consolidated air corporation, and charge us up for so many cubic feet of breathing air per month. Everybody will wear an air meter. If you don't pay your bill by the 1st of the month, they'll shut off your air!

Not in Mourning Mood

Teased into it, Boole had accompanied his wife on an excursion to the realms of burgundy, and in the enormous building, with its many departments, had become separated from his better half.

For an hour at least he remained lounging impatiently at the junction of many ways, where elevators, stairs and passageways met, and then, tired and angry, he approached a floor-walker.

"Sir," he said to the frock-coated and suave attendant, in tones of righteous indignation, "I've lost my wife!"

Back came the reply with stunning force:

But Boole waited on.—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

"I just can't stay there another minute," the girl told her. "Brother S— is the stingiest man I ever knew."

"Stingy! Why, the whole family is known far and wide for its benevolence. What in the world makes you say that?" she asked.

"Ma'am," whispered the girl tragically, as if she were revealing state secrets, "ma'am, don't you know, Brother S— sits up at one end of the table and measures out just how much every one of them can have to eat before he ever gives 'em a plate, even? PROTESTS BONUS OF $50,000 TO DONHAM

BOSTON, June 19.—William F. Fitzgerald, Boston banker, has filed with Gov. Coolidge a public protest against the allowance recently made by Judge Morton in the United States district court of $50,000 to Wallace B. Donham for services as receiver of the Bay State Street railway during 18 months. Mr. Donham had also been receiving during that period a salary at the rate of $15,000 a year. The letter of protest is as follows:

"I wish to protest publicly against the granting of a bonus of $50,000 to Receiver Donham, in addition to his regular salary, because of the character of his work as receiver."

"The proposition of handling a state street railway is, and has been, a simple one, and all that is necessary is the use of ordinary business methods."

"From my standpoint Mr. Donham has failed to conduct the road with ordinary business ability, and that a man should get such a substantial bonus after showing such deplorable results is, in my judgment, contrary to public policy."

EPWORTH LEAGUE'S ANNUAL BANQUET

The annual banquet of the Epworth league, of the Centralville M. E. church was held in the church last evening, and a large number of members and friends of the organization were on hand for the occasion. The principal speaker was Rev. R. M. Pierce of Boston, who told of the need of young workers in the Methodist church, and pointed out the opportunities for service which are offered to the young men of today.

Following a short business meeting officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, Miss Sadie Munson; first vice president, Joseph P. Garmon; second vice president, Mrs. Mary Peters; third vice president, Miss Laura Whitney; fourth vice president, Mrs. Fred Colburn; secretary, Miss Mildred G. Smith; treasurer, Gaylord Hiser and pianist, Mrs. F. J. Healey.

The banquet was served by the following women of the Ladies Aid society of the church: Mrs. F. J. Healey, president; Mrs. Albert Swann, Mrs. Arthur Hiser, Mrs. Walter F. Whitney, Mrs. Walter Curtis, Mrs. Mary Peters, Mrs. A. Cully, Miss Mary Peard, Mrs. Fred Whittier and Mrs. Albion Gregory.

TIPS FROM THE CHIEF OF POLICE

Autos must not park within 75 feet of the principal down-town corners, says the city ordinance, and Chief Welch calls attention to the fact that this regulation includes the intersection of Merrimack and John streets. Many complaints have been made to the chief by business houses in this section, and he intends to see that the parking regulations there are strictly observed in future. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

Look Out For Him!

Lowell folks are requested by the chief to keep their eyes open for an alleged swindler who has been operating in Boston for the past week. He gives the name of B. Alcott Pratt, and his game is to attempt to cash checks at business houses in the cities in which he stops made out to a man of that name in Boston. He is about 30 years old, of medium weight, and five feet, 9 inches in height.

Quick Recovery

The Lowell police are all to the good, says Frank Holden, 9 Wesley street. Frank's auto was stolen at the circus grounds Monday evening, and he reported the matter to Supt. Welch. Frank's auto was located in Somerville early Tuesday morning. And now Frank's auto is safely back with its owner, and all is well.

In your head

In treating a headache, there is one safe rule to follow:—Never use any medicine containing acetanilid or similar coal-tar derivatives without the advice of your physician. They may give temporary relief, but they almost never reach the cause of the trouble and are likely to weaken the heart. The most common form of headache, frequently called sick headache, arising from a disordered stomach, may be avoided by care in the choice of food. Shun pastry, candy and rich food, take time to eat, chew your food thoroughly and keep your bowels in good condition by using one-half to one teaspoonful of "L. F." Atwood's Medicine after each meal. This old reliable remedy has been a perfect blessing to thousands for sixty years. Get a bottle today, and prove it for yourself. How to keep your skin healthy

WASH it! And there's more to "just washing" than you think. To keep your skin in a clear healthy condition you must give it the kind of washing that protects.

Your skin naturally collects a certain amount of dirt and perspiration. Every skin does. Only you must not allow these impurities to stay in. They will make your skin not only unpleasant to look at but actually unhealthy.

Don't give them the chance to make trouble. Protect your skin with the right kind of cleansing. Lifebuoy Health Soap was made for just this purpose—to cleanse thoroughly.

Its mild, antiseptic lather works right into the pores and leaves your skin as it should be—fresh and clear—free from impurities.

The clean antiseptic smell of Lifebuoy is the guarantee of its thorough cleansing power. One whiff of that pure, wholesome odor and you know why Lifebuoy protects your skin, keeps it what the doctors call clean!

Try a cake—you can get it at any grocery, drug or department store. Use Lifebuoy every day—for the face, hands, bath—and see the difference it makes. Watch your skin take on that clear out-of-doors look that means a healthy skin.

OUTPOSTS REPORT NO VILLA ACTIVITIES

FARENS, Tex., June 19.—Reports from American outposts here today said everything was quiet along the line and no Villa activities had been noticed on "the island" or near Guadalupe, where 70 Villa men were seen late yesterday. The camp fires of the Villa band could be seen all night and the American patrols watched the border closely to prevent a raid into the United States by the rebels.

An airplane patrol of the border has been established by Major Tobin, commander of the 11th aero squadron, which flew here from Fort Sam Houston Tuesday.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Frank J. Kelley and Miss Louise G. Kelly were married yesterday at St. Peter's rectory. The best man was Mr. George Kelley, 3 brother of the groom, while the bridesmaid was Miss Mae Kelly, a sister of the bride. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom, 172 Grand street.

Gilchrist-Smith—Mr. Joseph Gilchrist and Miss Laura B. Smith were married yesterday, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride, 420 Lawrence street, by Rev. W. Matthews. The couple were attended by Miss Laura H. Kitching and Mr. Archibald Gilchrist, who acted as bridesmaid and best man, respectively.

Gunn—Stewart—Mr. Dan A. Gunn of Rocky Mountain, N. S., and Miss Jeanette Y. Stewart of the same place and formerly of this city, were married June 11 by Rev. W. P. Grant. The couple will make their home at Rocky Mountain.

Maille—Trudel—Mr. Harry Maille and Miss Jessie M. Trudel were married yesterday afternoon at Notre Dame de Lourdes rectory, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. Leon Lamotte, O.M.I. The witnesses were Messrs. Edmond Maille and Alfred Trudel. At the close of the ceremony the happy couple, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left on an extended honeymoon trip to Troy, Albany, New York and other points in New Jersey and upon their return they will make their home at 55 Liberty street.

Owes Recovery To the Advice Of Her Friend

Three generations of people have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood-builder and the present popularity of the remedy is due, in a large measure, to the endorsement of those who have received benefit from the treatment. Among those who owe their health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and are anxious that others should profit by their experience, is Mrs. H. G. Langlois, of No. 13 Homer avenue, Cambridge, Mass. She says: "I was weak and run down and had no strength. My appetite was poor and whenever I went up or down stairs I became exhausted. My heart fluttered badly at times and my stomach was weak. I had not a particle of color, was a sufferer from headache and was very nervous and irritable."

"Upon the advice of a friend, who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with benefit, I decided to try them to build up my blood. I felt better after taking the second box and could soon see a decided improvement. My strength was restored, I had a better appetite and was not nearly so nervous. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are fine and am glad to recommend them to others."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by your own druggist or will be sent direct by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free book "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

5000 STRIKE

AT WATERBURY

WATERBURY, Conn., June 19.—Approximately 5000 men are on strike here today. Walkouts took place at the plants of the Scoville Mfg. MILITARY MASS FOR O.M.I. CADETS

The annual military mass for the members of the O.M.I. Cadets will take place at the Immaculate Conception church Sunday morning, June 23, and according to plans the affair will be the most elaborate in the history of this prominent semi-military organization. It is expected that in addition to the members of the organization about 1000 young men from overseas, all former members of the Cadets, will participate.

The Cadets and the soldier boys will meet at the armory in East Merrimack street at 8.30 o'clock and will march in a body to the church, where at 9 o'clock service will be held. It is being planned to celebrate mass in real military fashion as it was celebrated in France during the war. During the service appropriate music will be furnished by the Cadets' choir, and at the close of the mass breakfast will be served at the armory. The Cadets are requested to report at the armory next Tuesday night for a rehearsal in the church.

DOUBLE FUNERAL

Victims of Drowning Buried at Lawrence

The funeral of Louis Camire of 2 Forrest street, Methuen, and his nephew, Joseph E. Camire of 36 Washington street, Lawrence, who were drowned while fishing at Mud pond in East Draught, took place yesterday morning in Lawrence. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Anne's church at 8 o'clock by Rev. Charles Laflamme, assisted by Rev. Hunt Girard as deacon and Rev. Julien Girard as sub-deacon. Burial was in the Sacred Heart cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Girard.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND

Never give up the ship. It may be wrecked but long journeys may still lie before it. In the new William Fox super-production, "The Siren Song," featuring Theda Bara, which is to be shown for the first time today, the heroine believes her like has come to an end when her lover jilts her. Miss Bara gives one of the most dramatic portrayals in this picture of her entire career. The story concerns a light-house keeper's daughter in Brittany, jilted by her lover, she goes to Paris, where she soon becomes a great prima donna. Hearing of her fame her vil-

The Kind You Have Always Bought

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears in red on both sides of the bottle. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing spurious medicines into their families.

It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed counterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness.

Your Friend, the Physician.

The history of all medicines carries with it the story of battles against popular beliefs: fights against prejudice: even differences of opinion among scientists and men devoting their lives to research work; laboring always for the betterment of mankind. This information is at the hand of all physicians. He is with you at a moment's call be the trouble trifling or great. He is your friend, your household counselor. He is the one to whom you can always look for advice even though it might not be a case of sickness. He is not just a doctor. He is a student to his last and final call. His patients are his family and to lose one is little less than losing one of his own flesh and blood.

Believe him when he tells you—as he will—that Fletcher's Castoria has never harmed the littlest babe, and that it is a good thing to keep in the house. He knows.

Large lover meets her again and discovers that she is living with the man she loves. He pleads with her and she returns to her home. She then finds that his spiritual fervor merely covers a carnal passion for her. Heartbroken over her wrecked life she loses her voice while singing at a patriotic concert. She retires from her professional life and becomes once more a fishwife of the little village of Brittany. Eventually the man she loves returns, and they are married.

How an American youth, after a long and bitter struggle, won fame as a composer of an opera, is the theme of the latest photoplay, "Words and Music," in which Albert Ray and Lilian Fair are appearing. The stars are comparatively new to fiction but they are making rapid strides to the top of the ladder of popularity. Their work certainly merits it.

A new comedy and one of the latest Universal Weekly series will be shown and there will be new song numbers by Miss Browne. Patrons are again reminded of the fact that 10 cents sees it all and that The Strand is always cool and comfortable.

This theatre will give a handsome live Shetland pony, with cowboy riding outfit, up to the most popular boy or girl of Lowell and suburbs. The particulars will be announced in a few days. Watch out for this announcement and learn how this wonderful offer is to be carried out. Get all set for a real surprise. Tell the children to be on the watch for the papers during the latter part of the week.

A PAGEANT OF PROGRESS

Members of League of Catholic Women Stage Pretty Affair at the Opera House

Pictorial Fantasy of Women's Achievements Ably Presented Last Evening.

A remarkably convincing portrayal of what woman has done for the United States from its early pioneer days up to the present time was offered last evening by the League of Catholic Women to an audience which completely filled the Lowell Opera House and which applauded heartily the succeeding tableaux depicting the progress of women in this country.

"A Pageant of Progress" was the title of the affair and it was in the nature of a pictorial fantasy in a single act. The pageant was written by Augustus Raymond Kidder and originally presented by the Women's Professional League at the Empire theatre in New York. Last evening was its first performance in this section of the country and its striking originality and picturesque flavor, combined with perfect subject familiarity and diction on the part of those in the presentation made the evening a most enjoyable one for those fortunate enough to be present.

The local presentation was under the personal direction of Miss Mary C. Joyce, who, despite arduous other duties at this season of the year, unselfishly gave of her time and talents for several months in remodeling the fantasy to suit local conditions, arranging for settings and coaching the participants in their roles. A supreme triumph for the League of Catholic Women in their first stage production and what must have been exultant personal gratification, were Miss Joyce's rewards.

The fantasy was admittedly a stage-act. Every line and action of the affair tended toward that general goal, from the initial tableau depicting the heroism of the American maiden, Pocahontas, saving the life of Capt. John Smith, to the grand finale which found a climax in the tableau depicting motherhood.

The general scene of the fantasy was laid in what was termed the national hall of state. Uncle Sam sat on his throne, or rather his presidential chair (presumably in the absence of the rightful occupant), and standing by his side was Columbia. In front of him were a score of daughters of Columbia, who had come to the national hall to plead that they be given rights and privileges equal to those of the sons of Columbia. There was the plot of the evening.

Miss Columbia acted as mediator for her daughters and when they lacked breath to tell of their wants and achievements, she took up the thread of argument which sought to convince Uncle Samuel that he should give his women folk the right to vote. At first he couldn't "see it" at all, but gradually he became interested in the subject and sat through some 16 tableaux showing what woman had done to earn the vote. Once more the question was put to him and he admitted that he couldn't decide. Disgusted, his daughters put the question up to the audience and vigorous hand-clapping gave testimony to the fact that those present were mostly of the suffrage persuasion.

Miss Anna Maguire ably portrayed Uncle Sam and she bore the major burden of the speaking parts. Columbia was Miss Charlotte C. Walsh and a capable, dignified lady was she.

The first evidence of their ability which the women pleaders chose to show Uncle Sam was several solos by Miss Ellen Lynch, whose efforts were heartily appreciated. She was followed by Miss Louise Mahoney in a series of artistic dances, as evidence No. 2

that women had contributed to the happiness of the nation.

At this point the fantasy devolved into a series of tableaux, depicting the women leaders and heroines of America from the days of her early settlers to the present time. The first showed Pocahontas defending Captain John Smith when the Indian chief, Powhatan, was about to take his life. Miss Alice Lynch depicted Pocahontas, Miss Alice McManmon Capt. John Smith and Miss Alice Dineen Powhatan.

Preceding each tableau there was a poetical explanation of its significance by one of the women assembled before Uncle Sam, followed by chorus singing of an appropriate number.

The second tableau disclosed, Miss Alice M. Cox in the role of Barbara Fritchle, the grand old patriot whose "strike, if you will, this old gray head," has come ringing down in history. The half dozen Confederate soldiers in the scene were enacted by the Misses Myrtle Rooney, Ruth Murphy, Sadie Taft, Harriet McAlmon, Madeline Sullivan and Georgiana Keith.

Tableau 3 portrayed Ann Lee, whose work is dear to the hearts of all women. Miss Marguerite DeLorme was the principal in this scene.

Miss Rose Geary portrayed Francis Willard, another American heroine, in the fifth tableau, and the sixth was the Revolutionary heroine, Molly Pitcher, capably and sympathetically depicted by Miss Julia Rafter.

The pioneers of the suffrage movement, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony, were portrayed by Miss Della Brady and Miss Katherine Kelley. They received an exceptionally big hand.

Belle Boyd, Confederate scout, portrayed by Miss May R. O'Neil, was another feature of the evening. Interest in nursing brought about by the war accounted for the hearty applause given to the eighth tableau, which depicted a Red Cross nurse bending over a wounded soldier, and Clara Barton, pioneer in this work, standing in the background. Mrs. B. Callahan was Clara Barton, Miss Helen Cox, the nurse, and Dorothy McAdams, the soldier.

The ninth tableau found a Puritan woman defending her home against an attacking Indian. Miss Alice Flynn was the Puritan, Miss Louise Welch, her child, and Miss Agnes Liston, the Indian.

Particularly inspiring was the tenth tableau depicting a nun in a hospital. Miss Margaret McCluskey played the part well.

Civil war days were again brought to mind by the eleventh tableau which showed Harriet Beecher Stowe and her two famous characters, Uncle Tom and Eva. Miss Anna McCarron was Mrs. Stowe; Miss Mary Dillon, Uncle Tom, and Miss Elizabeth Maguire, Eva.

Rose Joyce made an admirable Betsy Ross in the next picture, and the thirteenth tableau introduced Charlotte Cushman, famous actress, in the role of Meg Merrilies. Miss Julia Thordar played the part.

Ida Lewis, American naval heroine, was played by Miss Louise Egan. Mrs. George Keefe proved an impressive Julia Ward Howe.

The sixteenth and final tableau was entitled "Maternity," and showed a mother and two children. Mrs. Charles Devine was the mother and little Ellen and Bernice Devine, the children. The "mother" appealed for rights equal to those of men on the ground that she was continuing the life of the nation. The final feature was assembly singing by all those who took part in the fantasy.

Those who had speaking parts in connection with the various tableaux were the Misses Louise Thomas, Mary Martin, Margaret Fox, Dorothy Jordan, Mary Lang, Gertrude O'Brien,

Caroline Downey, Marietta King, Mabel Cassidy, Edith Donohue, Marietta Gormley, Theresa Slattery, Anna Coffey, Margaret Donovan and Clotilda Delany.

The pages were Eva Turcotte and Ellen McEvoy and the heralds, Edward Duffy and Terrence J. Higgins. Miss Charlotte C. Walsh arranged the interpolated music for the tableaux, and Miss Julia Slattery was the pianist. The regular Opera House orchestra furnished the music.

The committee in charge included Dr. Emma Young Slaughter, Miss Grace Delany and Miss Mary C. Joyce.

Sergt. Monahan Says Champ 200 Per Cent Better Than When He Beat Johnson

POLEDO, Ohio, June 18.—Three bouts of eight rounds each and three of three rounds each will precede the 12-round heavyweight championship contest between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey here July 4th, it was announced today by Ad Q. Thacher, matchmaker of the Toledo Athletic club. The first match will start at 10 o'clock and the boxing will be almost continuous until Willard and his youthful challenger climb into the ring. Sergeant Walter Monahan, chief sparring partner for Willard, said today that in his opinion, Willard is 200 per cent a better boxer than when he fought Jack Johnson for the heavy weight championship in Havana in 1915.

"Perhaps my statement will be questioned, but I know what I am talking about," Monahan said. "I believe that Willard is a younger man now, physically speaking, than he was four years ago. He is a far better boxer and fighter. He seems to enjoy his training grind now, while it was an effort for him to condition himself for the Johnson match."

Monahan, while not predicting a knockout for Willard, believes he will win handily. He asserted that no one knows the tremendous hitting power of the champion.

He knocked me out with a half-piled punch and wore 16-ounce gloves," Monahan added. "Just imagine how he can hit when he lets go with full force and only a five ounce glove on his hands."

SATURDAY'S GAME TO BE TRANSFERRED

Because of the uncertainty in the street railway situation the management of the Lowell Baseball club has deemed it wise to transfer the Fitchburg game, scheduled for Lowell for Saturday, to Fitchburg. This was decided upon this morning, and subsequent word was sent to the opposing club, Lowell will therefore, play a series of three games in Fitchburg beginning today.

LEAVE FOR 12,000 GOBS

Nine Dreadnoughts, With Accompanying Destroyers and Supply Ships, Arrive

NEW YORK, June 19.—Nine dreadnoughts of the Atlantic fleet with accompanying destroyers and supply ships arrived in New York waters today and will anchor in the North river until after July 4. The big fighters are the Pennsylvania, Arkansas, Wisconsin, Texas, New York, Utah, Florida, Delaware and North Dakota.

More than 12,000 sailors will be given shore leave and, the war camp community service is mapping out a program of entertainment for them.

SAIL FOR GERMAN PORTS

Eight American Steamers With Cargoes of Provisions, Leave Deal, England

DEAL, England, Wednesday, June 18.—The eight American steamers with cargoes of provisions for Germany which were detained here for a few days have proceeded for German ports. There was a report early today that they would be held here pending the signing of the treaty.

AWAITING RECOGNITION ORDERS IN SIBERIA

VLADIVOSTOK, Monday, June 19 (By the Associated Press).—Allied and American military and civil authorities here still are awaiting instructions from their governments as to their attitude towards the All-Russian government headed by Admiral Kolchak.

Differences in the policy of the American and the Japanese military authorities here toward attacking bands has resulted in a suggestion that some authority other than a military representative take the initiative to co-ordinate the various policies.

One of the differences noted is the disposition of the American forces, who are guarding vital points on the railroads, as tunnels and bridges, to declare armed bandits to be outlawed as Bolsheviks only after such forces actually have attacked the guarded railroad points, while the Japanese have been accustomed to proceed against the Bolsheviks whenever they believed attacks were contemplated.

Only the United States, Japan and

China of the outside powers have troops in Siberia available for duty. Plans for reconstruction of railroads with the assistance of the allied powers have been completed by the International railroad board. Officials of the Kolchak government have let it be known that it is their understanding that further assistance cannot be rendered by the Americans without definite instructions from the United States government.

Relations between the American and Russian officials, it is generally remarked, are better now than at any time since the American representatives arrived in Siberia, although agitators are still continuing their anti-American propaganda campaign.

One of the most recent examples is the action condemning the attitude of the American command toward factional fighting in the maritime districts, adopted on June 10 by the Vladivostok Stock Exchange. These resolutions were said to have been forced through by alleged pro-German merchants. At the same time thanks were expressed to the Japanese command for its active efforts on behalf of the Kolchak government.

SELL ARMY FOOD AT COST IN BOSTON

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Representative Fitzgerald informed Mayor Fayer by telegraph yesterday that he would be one of a group of men, the others to be obtained by the mayor, to purchase and resell to the public at cost the great stores of food products which are to be auctioned by the war department in Boston, the latter part of this week.

Mr. Fitzgerald says 1,200,000 pounds of bacon in 12-pound cans, 50,000 pounds of roast beef in 10-pound cans, 90,000 pounds of corn in 5-pound cans and 100,000 pounds of corned beef in 2-pound cans are to be sold in Boston. He believes the general public should secure the advantage of the low prices which he thinks these products will bring at auction.

U. S. SOLDIERS WIN IN IRISH TRACK MEET

DUBLIN, Wednesday, June 18.—Two American soldier athletes, on leave in Ireland, won places today in the Irish track and field championship.

Private Patrick Ryan, holder of the world's hammer throw record, took that event with a throw of 150 feet. Next, William McCormick of Cornell university was second in both the hammer throw and the stone throw, coming within eight inches of the record in the latter event.

Man is the only living thing that ever sleeps on his back.

MOTION TO EXEMPT BEER AND WINE TABLED

WASHINGTON, June 19.—A motion by Senator Phelan, democrat, California, to add a rider to the agricultural appropriation bill proposing exemption of beer and wine from war-time prohibition was tabled by the senate late yesterday, 55 to 11.

There was no discussion of the proposal which was offered as an amendment to the prohibition enforcement bill, and consideration of it went over by consent.

The committee has eliminated that section of the bill proposing appointment of a prohibition commissioner to have general charge of enforcement of the law, and approved an amendment turning this work over to the commissioner of internal revenue.

Senator Phelan proposed suspension of senate rules barring his rider, which requires a two-thirds majority. He spoke briefly in support of limiting the war-time prohibition act to distilled spirits only, but no discussion came from prohibition advocates.

When Senator Phelan concluded, Senator Granger, republican, of North Dakota, in charge of the agricultural appropriations bill, moved to table Senator Phelan's motion, cutting off further debate.

On the Phelan motion, senators voting in its support were: Republicans, Calder, Edge, France, Knox, LaFollette and Wadsworth, total 5; democrats, King, Phelan, Reed, Thomas and Williams, total 5.

Senator McLean, republican, of Connecticut, also voted against tabling the motion, but later withdrew his vote because of a pair.

"Well" When Fence Is Signed

OTTAWA, Ont., June 19.—The senate late yesterday adopted an amendment to the prohibition bill which makes the prohibition orders in council effective only until peace is signed instead of for one year after that date.

PROPOSALS FOR PUBLIC BATH HOUSE

Separate sealed proposals will be received from local contractors only, at the office of the Board of Park Commissioners at City Hall, on Saturday, June 28, 1919, at 12 m. o'clock for the construction of a public bath house on the boulevard at the riverbank about midway between Varnum Avenue and Dunbar Avenue, in accordance with plans and specifications furnished by Henry L. Rourke, Architect.

This work will be let in two (2) separate contracts as follows:

- 1—General Contract Work.
- 2—Plumbing.

Proposals will be made on the blank form provided with the specifications and no bid will be accepted if presented in any other form.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check for 5 per cent of the price mentioned in the proposal. Said check to be made payable to the City Treasurer of the City of Lowell, and to be appropriated by said city for and to its own use as liquidated damages, and not as a penalty, should the successful bidder refuse or fail to sign the contract within ten days after being notified that said contract is ready for signatures.

Each contractor must be prepared to give bond to the amount of 75 per cent of the contract price, conditioned on the satisfactory execution of the contract as required by plans and specifications.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the Board of Park Commissioners and at the office of the Architect.

The Board of Park Commissioners reserves the right to reject any or all proposals, or to accept the proposal which seems for the best interests of the City of Lowell.

more favorably inclined toward the treaty than at first, while the clericals and the democrats of the left wing are reported to be swinging in the same direction. One report from Berlin represents the people of the capital as resigned to the future, desiring only to see the treaty signed and the suspense ended.

British Grand Fleet Ready

In the meantime, however, rumors of an exciting nature are printed in London newspapers, it being said that the British grand fleet is prepared to sail on short notice for German waters and that British dirigibles already are near the German coast, if not over German soil.

Dirigible Held For Duty

The dirigible R-34 which the British were intending to send out on a transatlantic voyage this week, is said by one report to be over the Baltic armed with bombs and machine guns, and ready for action. Her sister craft, the R-33, is reported to have left last night on a cruise which will include the Kiel canal. One thing definitely known is that the R-34 will not start on her projected trip for America until the German situation clears.

Quell Riots at Weimar

The attempt of Spartacan and Communist adherents to stir up riotous conditions at Weimar seems to have been definitely defeated, as no disorders there have been reported since Wednesday morning's futile attempt to break into the castle where the cabinet members are quartered.

Demonstrations by French sailors at

Brest on Tuesday night and Wednesday seem to have died down, although a recurrence of the trouble was feared there, according to last reports.

MOVEMENT IN FAVOR OF SIGNING

BERLIN, Wednesday, June 18. (By the Associated Press).—A pronounced movement in the ranks of the majority members of the assembly at Weimar in favor of signing the treaty, is reported in a despatch received here late tonight. Sentiment among the clericals and left wing democrats under the leadership of Baron von Richthofen, is also reported to be crystallizing in that direction.

GERMANS ANGRY OVER ATTACK

WEIMAR, Wednesday, June 18. (By the Associated Press).—The special train bringing Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau and his colleagues from Versailles, reached Weimar and was run into a siding shortly after midnight this morning. Government troops which were arriving to strengthen the city's protection, were marching through the dark streets to their quarters when the train rolled in. Suddenly the silence was broken by a platter of machine guns. The origin of the firing was not known until it was learned that Spartacan and Com-

BERLIN PEOPLE CRY SIGN AND END AGONY

BERLIN, Wednesday, June 18.—(By the Associated Press).—Sign the treaty and be through with the agony! is the gist of the comment of the people of Berlin today.

After the wrath provoked by the moral indictment contained in the covering note of the allied answer, the residents of Berlin seemed to have resigned themselves to the inevitable.

"Rather the end with terror, than terror without end," was the way one small merchant put it today.

FOR REGULATION OF RAILWAYS

commission on harbors and waterways is endeavoring to arrange for the regulation of railways connecting France and Trieste with Vienna, so that conditions will be satisfactory to Italy, Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia. Some agreement is desirable before the Austrian treaty is completed, but the indications are that the matter will be deferred for decision by the League of Nations.

Most of the railroads in question are owned largely by French capitalists. Italy and the new states want the sections of the railroad in their territory placed under the control of the countries through which they pass. Most of these countries desire government ownership, insisting that there will be discrimination against them if any other control of the roads is adopted. Until the settlement of the Fiume question it will be difficult to arrange control of the terminals there.

AMERICAN DELEGATES ARE OPTIMISTIC

PARIS, June 18.—While admitting that it has little direct or comprehensive information regarding the signing of the peace treaty, the American delegation to the peace conference is optimistic in its view of the situation. In common with peace conference circles generally, the delegates are not disturbed by the newspaper reports from Germany received here of an unfriendly nature toward the revised terms.
